New Guards Slated For President

75 More Persons Will Be Added To Secret Service Staff

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Secret Service will expand its machinery for presidential protection significantly in the next few months, adding 75 agents, clerks and technical personnel as the first step.

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon said "the basic emphasis will be on more effective advance and preventive work by the service in connection with presidential travel, as well as the use of more sophisticated equipment."

The Secret Service is under the Treasury Department.

In announcing the plans today, Dillon said the hiring of 75 additional persons would cost approximately $650,000.

The Secret Service has not made public its exact number of agents but the present total is believed about 400.

There already has been some increase in the Secret Service since the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Dillon's statement said the program of further expansion has the approval of the President's Committee on the Warren Report.

Shortly after the investigating commission headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren issued its report on the assassination, President Johnson appointed the committee of Cabinet offiers to study presidential protection.

The Warren Commission criticized both the Secret Service and the FBI with particular emphasis on the failure to spot Lee Harvey Oswald as a threat to the President before Kennedy's fateful trip to Dallas.

Dillon said the full program to strengthen the Secret Service will take up to 20 months.

The references to sophisticated equipment and technical personnel indicate the service is moving ahead with plans to use electronic data processing methods in trying to ferret out potential assassins and keep track of their whereabouts.

Paratroops Seize City Of Paulis; 100 Await Evacuation

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Snipers' bullets still whistled through Stanleyville today as government troops pushed across the Congo River after the main rebel force.

"Stanleyville is under control, but all resistance has not been eliminated," said an American Embassy spokesman.

"The city is virtually deserted. The Congolese have fled to the bush. But snipers are still active and you can easily get a bullet through your head."

Since the U.S.-Belgian airborne operation began Tuesday, at least 59 foreigners including three Americans have been slain by the Peking-backed rebels. The paratroopers rescued about 1,600 white hostages in Stanleyville and Paulis.

In Paulis, which was seized Thursday by Belgian paratroopers, about 100 whites awaited evacuation on U.S. C130s. At least 170 foreigners were brought here from Paulis Thursday.

Belgian paratroops were scouring an 18-mile radius around Paulis for other foreigners.

The U.S. spokesman said the evacuation of refugees from Stanleyville has been completed. The American planes brought a total of 1,070 refugees from Stanleyville and Paulis. Congolese and other aircraft have airlifted hundreds of others from the rebel zone.

The embassy said five Americans remained in rebel-controlled areas. They are Miss A. Chansler, who is believed to be about 18 miles from Paulis in the village of Egbita; W. McChesney, last reported in Wamba, and Mrs. F. J. Cunningham and her two children in Titule. All are connected with the

May Lead To Broader War

Rusk And Taylor Start Viet Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor started today an intensive reappraisal of U.S. strategy in anti - Communist war in Viet Nam. The study may lead to a decision by President Johnson to broaden the war.

Taylor met with Rusk early this morning, beginning a schedule of talks to be climaxed by White House sessions with President Johnson and other decision makers next week.

The administration appeared to be moving reluctantly toward a cautious expansion of the conflict beyond South Viet Nam in the hope of improving prospects for a peaceful settlement.

Johnson and other top administration officials are reported to have divided feelings about Viet Nam strategy between sticking to confining the war almost entirely to South Viet Nam, and making some strikes to the north.

Taylor, who returned to Washington Thursday, is known to believe that the time for new decisions is at hand. Furthermore he sees some advantages in authorizing and promptly undertaking air strikes either against Communist supply lines from North Viet Nam to South Viet Nam through the neighboring kingdom of Laos, or against Communist concentration points for men and supplies in the north.

Taylor recently declared that the outcome of the conflict is now "very much in doubt."

But he said he thought attacks on targets in Red-held territory would probably make the Chinese and North Vietnamese Communist leadership realize that the conquest it seeks in the south will become too expensive because of impending damage in the north.

The ambassador is reported to believe that such attacks might thus compel the Hanoi regime to reconsider its policies and enter into negotiations on terms more favorable to South Viet Nam than are now considered possible.

Another benefit Taylor is believed to see in strikes to the north is that they might have a heartening effect upon military and anti-Communist elements in the south.

Government instability has been for months one of the most serious problems in South Viet

U.S. Traffic Death Pace Takes Spurt

Toll Rises To 206 For Thanksgiving Holiday Period

By The Associated Press

The pace of the nation's traffic deaths spurted sharply on Thanksgiving, casting a somber note on holiday festivities in many families.

A rash of multiple-death accidents since the count started at 6 p.m. local time Wednesday was a major factor in boosting the toll to 191 today. The highway fatalities were far above the daily average of 126 in the first nine months of this year.

This year's Thanksgiving toll also was far more than reported in the corresponding period a year ago. The final count for the 102-hour weekend in 1963 was 543, a record high for a four-day Thanksgiving holiday period since the count was started in 1958.

Wet weather, snow in the Pacific Northwest and Midwest and rain in the East, created hazardous driving conditions in many areas. Highway travel, although not regarded as heavy as on other major national holidays, appeared above normal in most of the nation.

Multiple-death accidents were reported in a number of states.

A mother and three of her children were killed Thursday night when their car rammed a parked truck on the Kansas Turnpike near Wellington, Kan.

Three men and a woman were killed when their automobile hit a utility pole in Akron, Ohio.

Two cars loaded with teenagers from Fort Dodge, Iowa, returning from a wedding reception crashed in separate accidents. Three boys were killed in one accident and in the second mishap one boy was killed.

The worst accident during the holiday thus far reported was near Olanta, S.C., where seven members of one family and the driver of a second car were killed in a head-on collision

19 Crewmen Die As Ships Crash

NEW YORK (AP) — Nineteen crewmen of a Norwegian tanker are dead or missing from a Thanksgiving Day tragedy in which their vessel was sliced in two by an Israeli luxury liner heading out on a carefree Caribbean cruise.

The collision occcurred 18 miles off the New Jersey Coast shortly after 2 a.m. Thursday in dense fog.

The stern quarter of the tanker sank in the pall of darkness and fog. Water poured into the liner's bow compartments, which were sealed off.

An air-sea rescue operation was quickly put in motion.

Clad variously in nightdress or ballroom attire, many of the cruise liner's 616 passengers raced to decks to watch through the mist.

Eventually, 24 of the tanker's 43-member crew were snatched from the seas, from swamped lifeboats and from the barely floating forward section of the vessel. Among them were a stewardess — the lone woman aboard — and the tanker's captain.

Some of the men saved from the sea were only partially clad. They were oil-smeared, blue with cold and in some cases insensible from shock.

As time wore on through a gray dawn, the Atlantic yielded 13 bodies. A massive daylong search of the area finally was called off at sundown without any trace of six men still missing.

The vessels involved were the $20-million liner Shalom, pride of the Israeli merchant fleet and its seven-months-old flagship,

U.S. Protests Mob's Attack On Embassy

Africans In Cairo Burn Kennedy Memorial Library

CAIRO (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Lucius Battle delivered a formal protest to the Egyptian government today following a mob attack on the U.S. Embassy compound.

Screaming anti-American slogans, a mob of African students burned the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library and a Marine barracks in protest against the U.S.-Belgian rescue operation in the Congo.

The library, dedicated only a few days ago, was still smouldering this morning more than 12 hours after the students stormed over an iron rail fence to get into the compound, which houses half a dozen buildings.

No injuries were reported, however, and the main building housing the ambassador's office escaped with only a few broken windows.

Damage to the library, considered one of the two best foreign language libraries in Cairo, was estimated at $250,000.

Cairo newspapers said all the demonstrators were Congolese. Cairo is a haven for leftist opponents of the central Congolese government.

The Cairo incident was the most serious demonstration against the United States in a wave of hostile sentiment following the Congo airborne operation in which U.S. aircraft were used to carry the Belgian paratroopers.

At the Marine barracks, the demonstrators set bedding and furniture afire and hurled gasoline torches and flower pots.

Mass Demonstrations Fail

Huong Wins First Round Over His Viet Nam Foes

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Tran Van Huong's declaration of martial law and his obvious intention to crush antigovernment riots with bullets if necessary appeared today to have won the scrappy leader a first-round victory over his militant opponents.

Predicted mass demonstrations failed to materialize Thursday and today. The powerful Buddhist leadership apparently was shying away from a showdown in the streets, at least for the present.

The National Buddhist Institute was closed by barbed wire strung up by the Buddhists. Signs proclaimed there would be no demonstrations today.

Armed police broke up a news conference given by Nguyen Xuan Chu, former chairman of the National High Council. He announced the merging of 18 political parties and student groups into a national revolutionary committee pledged to destroy Huong's three-week-old government.

A maze of barbed wire was removed from around the palace of chief of state Phan Khac Suu. But troops were on the alert to crush any renewal of the demonstrations which were staged daily from Sunday through Wednesday. Huong proclaimed martial law Wednesday night.

The key to Huong's position continued to be the support of the military. It is still smarting over the collapse of military rule in August, when tough action was not taken against rioting mobs until too late.

Huong in a broadcast said the Communist Viet Cong had played a role in the riots and that they were fomented by "groups of irresponsible people (who) have either innocently or deliberately fallen in with Communist plans and incited the most unoccupied and innocent sectors of the population."

Huong said 86 members of the security forces and nearly all policemen were injured in Wednesday's melee. He did not specify casualties among the rioters but these were believed to be at least 30 or 40.

Spacecraft's Launching To Mars Delayed

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —Technical problems with the spacecraft today forced postponement of an attempt to launch Mariner 4 to Mars to take pictures and probe scientific secrets.

No new launching date was set immediately.

The launch crew had only a 3-hour, 13-minute favorable period ending at 12:41 p.m. EST in which to fire the Atlas-Agena rocket to achieve the desired trajectory. When the trouble could not be corrected in time, the shot was called off for the day.

The rocket is to propel Mariner 4 across 326 million miles of space for a brief encounter with the red planet next July 14.

If successful, the unmanned craft will skim within 8,600 miles of Mars and radio to earth the first close-up information ever obtained from the planet. Many astronomers believe that a basic form of life such as vegetation exists there.

Project scientists hope that Mariner 4 will succeed where Mariner 3 failed an identical assignment Nov. 5.

Lame-Duck Special Session

West Virginia Legislature To Amend Income Tax

CHARLESTON (AP) — A bill to amend the West Virginia personal income tax law brought the 56th legislature together in a lame-duck special session today, three days before it passes out of existence.

Barring unexpected opposition, the lawmakers were expected to pass the tax measure in one sitting and adjourn late today.

The only other business to be disposed of was Senate confirmation action on 110 appointments made by Gov. W. W. Barron to assorted state departments, boards and commissions since the legislature was last in session in February this year.

Barron called the extraordinary session to amend the states personal income tax law to conform with federal income tax law amendments voted by Congress this year.

The House convened in makeshift quarters in the large corridor outside the House chamber, which is being recarpeted. The 100 delegates' desks were set up in the corridor.

Mild Weather Due For City Yule Parade

Santa Claus may not need his North Pole parka for his appearance in the annual Christmas parade tonight at 6. The weather outlook calls for mild temperatures.

The units will form on Bradshaw Ave. in the area near Walnut and Ravine Sts.

They will move onto Walnut St. then to E. 5th St., over 5th to Jefferson St., then to W. 6th St. and over 6th to Walnut St. to disband.

Parking is banned along the parade route after 5.

Strenuous Drive Coming Up

Ohio Lawmakers Advised To Rest This Weekend

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State lawmakers have been advised by party floor leaders to rest up this holiday weekend. The coming week or two will see a strenuous drive to wind up this special session.

This week—the third—was the most significant so far.

The House passed and sent to the Senate two of the major measures for which Gov. James A. Rhodes called the 105th General Assembly back to the statehouse — congressional redistricting and legislative reapportonment.

Representatives passed the bill to remap districts of Ohio's 24 congressmen Wednesday before going home for Thanksgiving. The measure may be in for a rough time in the Senate, however.

A day earlier, the House took up the matter of districts of nearly equal population for its own members, adopting a resolution making 69,332 persons the basis for each representative.

Both proposals result from U.S. Supreme Court decisions that a state's lawmakers, in Congress or legislature, must represent approximately the same number of persons as fellow legislators from the same state in the same chamber.

The fourth week of the special session begins at 1:30 p.m. Monday for senators and 7:30 p.m. the same day for the House. Although up to now both chambers have gone home after three workdays, there are indications they will hold floor sessions through Friday next week.

It's considered doubtful, though, that this so - called "lame duck" session will end sometime in the second week of December at the earliest. The regular, once-every-two - years session starts Jan. 4, and the "lame duck" tag comes from the fact that some lawmakers of this special session were not re-elected for the 1965 session.

The congressional redistricting bill which passed 84 - 32 Wednesday needed 69 votes. Twelve Rpublicans broke majority ranks to oppose it, but 17 Democrats sided with Republicans in favoring it.

As it came out of the House, with Senate revision virtually certain, the bill makes these district changes:

4th—Unchanged.

5th—Adds Sandusky County.

6th—Adds Lawrence County, deletes Clermont.

7th—Deletes Warren County.

8th—Adds Richland County.

9th—Unchanged.

10th—Divides Franklin County

11th—Deletes two townships of Trumbull County (including Warren).

12th—Removes western part Franklin County.

13th—Adds Medina County, removes Sandusky County.

14th—Removes southern Summit and Medina counties.

15th—Removes Monroe, adds Fairfield, Hocking, Gallia, Vinton, Jackson, Meigs, and Athens counties.

16th — Removes Tuscarawas, Wayne counties.

17th—Adds Wayne, southern Summit, deletes Richland county.

18th—Adds Monroe, Tuscarawas counties, deletes Carroll County.

19th — Adds two Trumbull County townships (including Warren).

20th - 23rd — All Cuyahoga County, adjusted to population.

24th—New district of Butler, Clermont, Warren, rest of Montgomery County.

The House also passed and sent to the Senate Wednesday a bill to lift three restrictions on Aid to Dependent Children of the Unemployed, a federal program in which Ohio will participate only another seven months unless the 1965 Legislature extends it.

Restrictions which the bill would lift are that the parent have been employed at least a year some time in his life, have worked 13 weeks in the last two years and have been unemployed two weeks before applying.

Beaver Local Future Homemakers Meet

The Beaver Local Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America met Wednesday in the home economics room at the high school at Williamsport.

Jeanet Jenkins, reporter, presided in the absence of the president and vice president and Mrs. Evelyn Atkinson, teacher and adviser, assisted.

A discussion period followed.

If the Executive Board consents, the group will visit the Salem City Hospital, Salem Central Clinic and a convalescent home at Salem Dec. 19, with final plans to be made at a special meeting to be called. The group plans to sell fruit cakes and candies.

Permit Processed

LISBON — The Ohio Department of Liquor Control is processing an application for a beer permit from Samuel J. Sowards of Route 30, Madison Township, filed Oct. 26, Donald Cook, department director, announced.

Officers List 4 Slight Local Auto Crashes

Four minor traffic mishaps marred holiday traffic in East Liverpool, but no one was injured, police reported.

There was a two-car crash downtown; a collision involving an auto and a motor scooter and two hit-skip crashes.

A collision on Walnut St. at Pleasant Alley Thursday at 2:02 p. m. damaged a 1962 sedan driven by Jack O. Gloeckner, 27, of Woodbine Ave. and a 1960 model station wagon driven by Clyde B. Woyan, 48, of 549 Oak Grove Rd., Wellsville, officers said.

Gloeckner said he was driving north on Walnut St. about 25 to 30 miles an hour when Woyan pulled out the alley and struck his car. Woyan said he stopped at the intersection, saw no oncoming traffic and pulled onto the thoroughfare.

Woyan, cited on a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way when entering a through street, entered a not guilty plea when arraigned this morning before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

As the defendant is a deaf mute, he was given a seat directly in front of the witness stand to enable him to read the lips of witnesses and Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark, the prosecutor.

The court convicted Woyan and fined him $15 and costs, suspending the fine on payment of costs.

The auto-scooter crash was timed Wednesday at 9:28 p. m. on the Dairy Queen store lot on Dresden Ave., police said.

It involved a parked 1963 sedan owned by Mark Hetrick of Calcutta and a 1959 model motor scooter operated by Ralph W. Sheets, 16, of 1108 Riverview St., officers said.

Sheets told police he was unfamiliar with the scooter he was operating and as he attempted to stop the vehicle slid into the auto.

A backing auto caused heavy damage to a concrete block retaining wall sometime Wednesday night or early Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Eccleston, 1031 Riverview St., officers said. Mrs. Eccleston reported the damage to officers at 12:40 p. m. yesterday.

Lawrence H. Moore of Hookstown R. D. 1 told police a hit-skip car damaged the left rear fender of his 1964 model coupe sometime between 8:30 and 10:40 p. m. Thursday on the Community Parking Lot at E. 6th and Walnut Sts.

Court Suspends Man's Sentence On Trespassing

Daniel Edward McCartney of Shadyside Ave. was given a 10-day suspended County Jail term today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff when he pleaded guilty to a charge of trespassing early Thursday at the home of a police officer.

The affidavit was signed by Patrolman Ronald Brookes, alleging that McCartney "entered on his lands and premises without lawful authority." McCartney originally was charged under a city ordinance that makes it a misdemeanor to "wilfully disturb, or frighten" the occupants of a home "by any act or gesture."

Officer Brookes testified he was on duty at the desk at headquarters at 3:30 a. m. yesterday when his wife phoned that a man was prowling around their home on W. 9th St. Lt. Kenneth Mooney took charge of the desk and the officer drove to his home in his private car. He said he saw a man jump off the porch and run. Officer Howard Frontz, who was nearby in a cruiser, arrested McCartney, he said.

Officer Brookes said he found hand prints and marks of hair oil on a window at his home. Suspending the jail term, Judge Chertoff ordered McCartney to pay the costs. He told McCartney he must obey all laws in the future.

Life expectancy for Americans has increased from 47.3 years in 1900 to about 70 today.

On Consul Staff In Stanleyville

Ohioan Safe At Home Following Long Captivity

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ohioan on the U.S. consul's staff at Stanleyville, like his boss and three other colleagues, enjoyed a respite on American soil today after a Thanksgiving Day homecoming from long captivity and near-death in the Congo.

Communications clerk James E. Stauffer, 31, of Findlay arrived with Consul Michael P. Hoyt and the others at New York's Kennedy Airport, then was brought here by military transport plane.

Stauffer's plans now that the ordeal is over, or the government's plans for him, could not be learned immediately.

The State Department couldn't say where he could be reached here Thursday night and, anyway, the group was under instructions to make no public comment right away. It was hoped, however, he would be available for interview by the press today.

Between flights, Stauffer had a brief reunion with his mother, Mrs. Marie Stauffer of Findlay, notified by the State Department that the group was due in from Africa, flew to New York early Thursday to be on hand for her son's arrival.

The airport meeting of the five diplomatic staffers with loved ones was described as warm and happy, with much embracing.

All looked tired and showed the strain of an ordeal climaxed by their narrow escape from Tuesday's Stanleyville massacre of white hostages by rebel Congolese. They had been held captive for several months.

Mrs. Stauffer said she had not heard from her son since July. He had been in the Congo

Legislation Will Be Asked To Make 'Pep Pills' Illegal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration plans to ask for legislation making the possession of pep pills illegal. The pills are becoming a big money item in organized crime because of lack of federal control, says George P. Larrick, commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration.

Arrests for possession of the pills can only be made now if the federal agents can prove the pills moved across state boundaries.

Larrick said bigtime racketeers are being attracted to the pep pill trade by the lure of large profits. The pills can be bought for $1 a thousand and peddled for 5 to 10 cents a pill, he said.

Larrick discussed the pep pill problem Thursday on a radio interview sponsored by the AFL-CIO.

Lisbon Girl Charged After Route 39 Mishap

SALINEVILLE — Leona Ruth Lodge, 16, of 337 Chestnut St., Lisbon, is slated for a hearing in Traffic Court at the Courthouse at Lisbon Monday as a result of an auto mishap on Route 39 Wednesday night.

Police Chief Earl Laney said the girl was driving east on Route 39 near the east village limits when her car went over the center line and off the road, overturning on its top.

The driver and a girl passenger escaped injury, Chief Laney said. There was extensive damage to the 1960 compact.

$216 Billion Record Sales Seen In Steel

CLEVELAND (AP) — Steel Magazine says in its Nov. 30 issue that respondents to its annual survey of 7,500 metalworking managers predict sales in the metalworking industry will climb to a record $216 billion next year.

If that figure is reached it will be 6.3 per cent higher than this year's expected record of $203 billion, the metalworking weekly says.

"It's one of the brightest forecasts of this decade and one of the most optimistic since the survey was started nearly 20 years ago," Steel says. "Significantly, respondents have missed only once over that period."

The magazine says more than 50 per cent of the executives polled predicted profit performance will be improved upon in 1965, while only 14 per cent expect profit declines. Thirty-four per cent said profits would maintain their healthy level.

"The managers caution, however, that recent wage settlements, raw material prices and inventory buildups could dim next year's outlook," Steel says. "Prognosticators say unit manufacturing costs (labor, materials, overhead) will jump three per cent."

The publication says that with costs increasing, "Metalmen are more optimistic about their chances of nudging selling prices upward than they have been in the last two years." It says an over-all boost of two per cent is predicted by firms of all sizes.

Heart Council Sets Meeting On Tuesday

LISBON — The Columbiana County Heart Council will meet Tuesday at 8 p. m. at the Wick Hotel when the group's program will be explained.

Twing Hiscox of Lisbon, president, will preside and Anton C. Radich of Youngstown, executive director, will attend.

A question-and-answer period will be held at the dutch treat dessert meeting. Monday is the deadline to send in reservations.

Two pellets entered the left neck and another penetrated the left breast while a fourth glanced off his head near his right eye in the shot fired by his companion, Eddie Alford, 14. Weigle was in "fairly good" condition in a hospital here.

$216 Billion Record Sales Seen In Steel

CLEVELAND (AP) — Steel Magazine says in its Nov. 30 issue that respondents to its annual survey of 7,500 metalworking managers predict sales in the metalworking industry will climb to a record $216 billion next year.

"It's one of the brightest forecasts of this decade and one of the most optimistic since the survey was started nearly 20 years ago," Steel says. "Significantly, respondents have missed only once over that period."

The magazine says more than 50 per cent of the executives polled predicted profit performance will be improved upon in 1965, while only 14 per cent expect profit declines. Thirty-four per cent said profits would maintain their healthy level.

"The managers caution, however, that recent wage settlements, raw material prices and inventory buildups could dim next year's outlook," Steel says. "Prognosticators say unit manufacturing costs (labor, materials, overhead) will jump three per cent."

The publication says that with costs increasing, "Metalmen are more optimistic about their chances of nudging selling prices upward than they have been in the last two years." It says an over-all boost of two per cent is predicted by firms of all sizes.

Moving In The Right Direction

If Associate Justice Hugo L. Black could have his way, the U.S. Supreme Court would affirm unmistakably and permanently that libel could be committed only as an act of malice. Free speech would be absolute, not relative.

Justice Black has made his views known both inside and outside the court. In a decision handed down last March, the court ruled that the Constitution "prohibits a public official from recovering damages for a defamatory falsehood unless he proves the statement was made with "actual malice'—that is, with knowledge that it was false or with reckless disregard of whether it was false or not."

Justice Black in a separate opinion said there should be absolute privilege to malice, a view shared at that time by Associate Justices Arthur J. Goldberg and William O. Douglas.

Now in a further ruling, the Supreme Court has affirmed its previous position by reversing the conviction of a district attorney charged with defaming eight criminal district judges. After his appeal had been rejected by a state supreme court, the district attorney sought and obtained relief in the U.S. Supreme Court.

Again, Justice Black and Justice Douglas said in concurring opinions that criminal convictions for criticizing public officials should be barred.

Progress is slow, but it is being made surely. Libel suits by public officials are on the wane.

Another Good Show

It was a real thrill to watch the East Liverpool High School band on television during the annual Thanksgiving parade at Philadelphia.

The musicians looked as sharp as ever and did themselves and the city proud. There's no better way for ambassadors of goodwill to say it than to say it with music.

The band has done much to let people know, with a resounding "oom-pah", that there is an East Liverpool, Ohio.

Appearances such as those at Philadelphia can't help but make all the effort that goes into such an organization more than worthwhile.

Another salute to an outstanding band!

Medicare Prescription

The size of the Democratic vote Nov. 3 after a national campaign featuring fervent discussion of the medicare issue suggests that new force will be put back of the Johnson administration's drive for a medicare law.

President Johnson has put medicare at the top of the list of legislation he will favor when the 89th Congress convenes, with a beefed-up Democratic majority.

The chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas, a long-time opponent of medicare, also may have noted the election returns. He said even before the vote had been cast that he thought something should be done to guard against the risk of financial disaster to wage earners who encounter heavy costs of illness. He indicated he would favor any sound plan, which has been interpreted to mean he would favor any plan sound enough to command general support. As chairman of the House committee that must handle the issue, Rep. Mills is listened to with respect.

One plan now getting attention has been devised by the Medical Society of the District of Columbia. All the society's members belong to American Medical Association.

The plan calls for a tax-supported "realistic senior citizens health care program," requiring cooperation of AMA, Blue Cross, Blue Shield and the commercial insurance industry. It would be patterned on the federal employe health benefits program now in existence under which the government pays a part of the cost of insurance and allows beneficiaries to choose whatever program suits them best.

This would eliminate the tie-up with the existing Social Security program, which proved to be the controversial feature of the bill that died in conference committee this year.

Nothing Too Good, Etc.

Descriptions of the Rayburn House Office Building in Washington are fascinating. This may be the most expensive building ever erected in the United States.

It was dedicated to the memory of Sam Rayburn, long-time speaker of the House of Representatives, in 1962. It was supposed to cost $70 million, a record in itself. When it finally is dedicated to the use of the 169 U.S. representatives who will have office space in it, the tab will be up to $122 million for the entire project — and there will be more.

When the Senate Office Building was finished in 1958 ($21.2 million) the terrazo floors were slippery. Deep-pile carpeting was laid over them. That kept the super de luxe doors from swinging open. So all the doors had to be sawed off. Things like that will happen again. Deep-pile carpeting on terrazo floors . . .

Nothing is too good for public officials when they can spend public money without public consent. That is the secret of the profligate spending of the federal government.

The American people have nothing to say about federal spending. They are not called on to approve levies. They are not asked whether tax rates should be rejuggled.

In federal spending, the people are confronted with accomplished facts. There is nothing they can do about spending but gasp at the enormity of the federal budget and groan about federal taxes.

Nothing is too big for big spenders. No building is too ornate, no carpeting too thick, no accommodations too plushy. Everything must be monumental and ornamental, in keeping with the power, majesty and prestige of big government manned by big spenders with big ideas.

Tourists should put the Rayburn Building on their travel tours when visiting Washington. It is the Taj Mahal of the District of Columbia — the place where sweet prudence lies buried. Everybody should pay their heartfelt respects.

Pragmatic View Of Politics

"Why should we Republicans who supported Sen. Goldwater at the party convention, throughout the campaign and at the polls on election day pay attention to Republican dissenters who were either openly disloyal or furtively opposed to our man's candidacy?"

The comment reflects the bitterness in the hearts and minds of those who make it. There is a great deal more at stake in what the so-called "disloyalists" are doing than opposition to the latest in a long series of Republican candidates.

Not all the "disloyalists" are camp followers of the despised Eastern Establishment. Many are Republicans who take a pragmatic view of partisan politics and the two-party system.

They are interested in ways and means of winning elections for the Republican party. They are engrossed in thoughts, for example, of doing something about a Negro bloc vote that now totals more than six million, with upward of 95 per cent of it being registered against Sen. Goldwater last Nov. 3. How can that be changed?

They are imbued with the thought that a political party must win elections to justify its existence — and they are thinking about the elections of 1966 and 1968.

Some of them, like their hard-bitten counterparts in the opposition party, are willing to forego ideological satisfaction votes.

Their views, too, are worthy of consideration during the Republican rehash, especially because so many of them are the party's experienced organizers — the old press of the Republican side of the two-party system.

Taking Over

By Truman Twill

If we men can hold out a few months longer, help is on the way.

After July 1965, employers won't be able to discriminate against us any more because of sex. The provision was added to the Civil Rights Act at the last minute.

Race, color, religion, national origin and sex — they're all barred as factors in deciding who shall be hired and fired. The purpose was to help the girls edge into places they've never been before.

But the law also is going to pry open the door for us boys on a turn-about-and-fair-play basis. Not that we are dumb enough to think employers cannot find out the sex of all applicants by hook or crook, but the way it works is that they will go through the motions of staying on the right side of the law.

This will give us a chance to chisel our way into places now monopolized by women, starting with the embarrassing fact that women own darned near everything in this country. We intend to get some of it back.

After we have evened the score on wealth, we boys will get our elbows flying and push our way into the arts, starting with authorship of books and plunging ahead until we have scored an even break in singing and dancing.

Or haven't you ever noticed that after the ballerina gets through, the geezer in the dark tights does everything she did, better. Yet, no one pays attention to him. All eyes are riveted on HER.

We boys also will use the Civil Rights Act to get back some of the jobs women have taken over because their fingers are nimbler, or in some instances because their points of view are more adjustable to working conditions.

There are offices that have been taken over entirely by women, on the flimsy pretext women are sharper than men, also cheaper to hire. We intend to break that up as soon as the law goes into effect.

No one can overestimate the fun we expect to have when the sex barriers are lowered and we are emancipated. Stand aside, dollies. We're taking over.

War The Hard Way

Days Of Terror In The Congo

Nun Tells Of Treatment At Hands Of Rebels

Sister Anne-Maria Merkens, 45, of Hoensbroek, Holland, told this story of weeks of ordeal in The Congo on her arrival in Belgium.

BRUSSELS (AP) — Sometimes, in the past two weeks, I wished the Simbas, the Congo rebels, had killed me. Forced to parade naked in the street, I and my sister nuns were beaten till we screamed while Congolese youths danced, jeered and yelled at us.

Looking back, I don't hold it against the Congolese, not even against the Simbas. They just didn't know any better. For all that I suffered I am keen to get back to the Congo.

I first went to the Congo in 1954. They made me the mother superior of a mission hospital at Bondamba, about 300 miles northwest of Stanleyville. There we were happy taking care of Congolese orphans and sick people. We also ran a school for Congolese girls.

THE FIRST real hint of trouble came last Sept. 15 when a group of Simbas, some wearing leopard skins, descended on the mission and accused us of transmitting messages to the Americans. They took away our transistor set and some supplies of textbooks and clothing for the schoolgirls.

For several days they harried us, so terrifying our hospital patients that even the very sick ones fled from their beds and left us.

For a couple of weeks it was comparatively calm. Then at the beginning of October back came the Simbas. They killed our cows, stole our chickens and raided our rice supply. They promised to come back and pay the bill but they never did.

ONE NIGHT they came back and abducted all our school girls, children aged from between 7 and 14. They took them off with them and spent the night dancing, singing and sleeping with them.

Always when the Simbas came it was obvious they were drunk and drugged. There was a kind of drug they burned in a bottle, sniffing the fumes it produced.

At this stage we were not ill treated personally. They contented themselves with insulting us. They only dropped their insulting manner when they wanted to have their wounds patched up. We treated several of them.

The real ordeal began when they swooped on the mission at the beginning of November and arrested another nun and myself.

We were taken off in a car driven by a Congolese rebel who boasted that he had just undergone a pagan initiation rite. It involved inflicting some sort of wound on his forehead because that was swollen up in the middle into a large lump. Many of the Simbas carried the mark.

THERE FOLLOWED a trip toward Basoko lasting more than a week. As we went through villages, inhabitants seemed to get progressively angrier at us. They would swarm around, thump on the car and rock it. They thought we were Americans and screamed accusingly at us, "Yankees!"

The last part of the journey we were taken under escort in a motorized canoe along the Congo River. On arriving in Basoko, the Simbas welcomed us with a barrage of insults and made us jump into the river up to our knees.

We were herded in a house that had been taken over by the Simbas to serve as a prison. There we were told to take off our clothes for an "inspection." All our possessions were taken, money, passports, rosaries and crucifixes.

All these things were thrown in a heap in the middle of the street and we were told: "Now you have lost your magic omens. You have no more power."

THEY GAVE us back our clothes then and locked us up in the prison, which already contained 16 other nuns, 23 priests and three civilians.

The next day, Nov. 11, the terror reached its height. The Simbas heard two light planes overhead, thought they were American and flew into a rage.

We were just sitting down to breakfast when in rushed a Simba who, with a sweep of his spear, brushed the table clean of all food and crockery.

Shouting accusations that we had summoned the Americans during the night, the Simbas attacked the priests. They hammered them mercilessly with sticks and rifle butts until nearly everyone was covered with blood and bruises.

Then we were marched outside and told to strip off all our clothes. Naked, we were ordered to sit down. Then the rebels pitched in to us.

Ferocious blows from rifles and clubs rained repeatedly on our bare bodies. We screamed and cried but they kept on. All the time Congolese youths danced and yelled insults at us from the side of the road.

Finally, with blood flowing in the road, the Simba commander ordered his men to stop. Myself, I was bleeding from a big gash on the head and was covered with bruises.

The Simbas hustled us back inside the prison. Still racked with pain and exhausted, we were all put in a small room and told to sit down. Then the 23 priests and the three civilians were herded in with us.

Serving Mankind

By John Barbour

The Paul Carlsons Labor In Obscurity

WASHINGTON — There is a breed of American doctors who gather the world's poorest humanity in their hands and who leave their mark on the minds of men from the mountains of Southeast Asia to the steaming forests of Africa and South America.

And, save for the moments when they dramatically die, the Tom Dooleys and the Paul Carlsons labor largely unknown and unacclaimed by their fellow Americans.

One such dramatic moment came this week in a place called Lumumba Square in a city called Stanleyville in a country called the Congo. It was a strange place to die for a man from a more common place called Rolling Hills, Calif.

But Dr. Paul Carlson — a man with something to give — had chosen to be there because he felt he was needed there.

So it is for a growing number of American doctors who forsake convenient American living and rewarding medical practice at home to serve for nearly nothing in the wildernesses of the world.

There are more than 2,000 American doctors at work today — strange transplants into the frustrations of poverty, among diseases they never see at home, in places where suspicion is the rule and trust must be won, and where the most important mail from home might be a package of surplus drug samples.

Like Carlson, they may work in a one-man, cinder-block hospital in a jungle clearing, they may find their day beginning before dawn and ending beyond midnight, they may find the simplest needs for clean water and trained help hard to come by. They certainly find no shortage of patients.

For Carlson — sole doctor for 100,000 Africans — the need was clear when he visited the Congo in 1961. He closed up practice in California, trained in Britain and went to answer that need. He almost certainly felt that even his hardest efforts were only a drop in the bucket of African poverty.

So it is for some 700 Protestant and some 50 Catholic medical missionaries who try to cope with the brutal facts of malnutrition and disease, who see a woman bear six children knowing perhaps only one will survive to adolescence with normal mental capacity.

And so it is for the 150 doctors who serve under Care-Medico programs and the 35 to 40 who put in intensive tours for the medical ship Hope.

Others work for the Peace Corps and other U.S. government agencies and the emphasis is often on training native talent to take over when the Americans go home.

The American Medical Association says it receives hundreds of queries from doctors asking how they can help overseas. It also has a long list of requests for medical help from Malaysia to Nigeria.

To help the American doctor abroad, some 35 groups collect old medical journals and drug samples from doctors to send to missionaries.

What Carlson saw in Africa were the commonplace, awful contagions of yaws and leprosy, and epidemics of infectious disease that merely trouble affluent Americans but kill the undernourished of other continents.

To the Africans, men like Carlson bring more than hope. They bring life.

To Americans, the way Carlson lived and served should likely be more important than the way he died, caught in an unfortunate tide of political distress. To Carlson's father, perhaps it was most simple of all:

"I'm not as much proud as humble," he said. "What he's supposed to die for — this does not make me proud — it makes me humble."

The War On Poverty

By Harry Kelly

WASHINGTON — How does a big city begin attacking the deep, sprawling roots of poverty?

Five cities that got the bulk of the federal grants for community action in the opening assault in the "war on poverty" Tuesday showed blueprints geared to education.

Of the $13 million set aside by Sargent Shriver, head of the new Office of Economic Opportunity, for local-run projects, five cities got a total of $9.1 million:

Detroit, $2.8 million; Los Angeles, $2.7 million; Washington, $1.4 million; Pittsburgh, $1.2 million and Atlanta, $1 million.

How do they plan to use the money?

Detroit aims to "fill the gaps in services for the needy by stepping up the work of existing agencies and unifying their efforts with new projects made possible" by the funds approved Tuesday.

One project is establishment of four community action centers and 20 subcenters in low-income neighborhoods.

The idea is to insure that the various social services — such as health, welfare, legal aid, job counseling and agency referral — actually reach the poor by housing the activities in poverty-stricken areas.

The most important feature, a spokesman for the Office of Economic Opportunity said, is a program of remedial education.

"The standard education menu isn't doing the job for children from deprived families," he said.

The remedial education plan includes five pre-school centers to prepare children, from 3 to 5 years, to enter school — as a "compensation for difficulties in deprived family circumstances." The program would continue through the regular grades with stress on remedial reading and speaking.

Los Angeles has a similar program, "to help offset the problems of poverty-stricken children and adults lacking basic schooling."

Like Detroit, there will be pre-school projects to prepare slum children for elementary school. School hours would be extended to provide more instructional and recreational programs — "to provide a place," as one man involved in the program put it, "where some kids can just sit down and look at a book."

Los Angeles, like Detroit and other cities, intends to use a share of the grant to hire people from these low-income neighborhoods to help in the program, in jobs ranging from aides at pre-school centers to directing youngsters working in the neighborhood programs.

Pittsburgh's poverty attack also focuses on pre-school and adult education, family welfare and neighborhood development. It will center on some 60,000 persons in eight neighborhoods.

High on Atlanta's priority list are plans to expand one neighborhood service center and to open centers in other areas. Seven such centers are planned.

The nation's capital will use $851,612 of its grant for neighborhood development, including four centers, each housing social services that were nonexistent before or scattered all over town.

Letter To The Editor

I have restrained myself from answering Truman's latest blast against the late Gen. MacArthur, hoping someone more capable would write in defense of the man I consider the greatest general of all time and the greatest American of this century.

MacArthur's footprints on the sands of time are indelible and cannot be erased by any one.

Most people ripen as fruit and as they mature they become more mellow, but in Truman's case it seems as though he has been in reverse and cultivated a sense of acrimony. And thus he has arrived to his post-humous "decisions."

In regard to egotism, MacArthur, by birth and nature, was a great man, and Truman wanted to be one. In the second place, Truman should know that it is not given to man the power to damn anything but his own soul.

It is common knowledge today by informed Americans that if Gen. MacArthur had not been recalled by Truman and had been permitted to bomb the northern supply bases the Korean War would have ended honorably and we would not be shedding blood in Viet Nam today.

Few men can honestly say with Lincoln and MacArthur that they did their duty as God gave them the light to see their duty.

After we have evened the score on wealth, we boys will get our elbows flying and push our way into the arts, starting with authorship of books and plunging ahead until we have scored an even break in singing and dancing.

Or haven't you ever noticed that after the ballerina gets through, the geezer in the dark tights does everything she did, better. Yet, no one pays attention to him. All eyes are riveted on HER.

We boys also will use the Civil Rights Act to get back some of the jobs women have taken over because their fingers are nimbler, or in some instances because their points of view are more adjustable to working conditions.

There are offices that have been taken over entirely by women, on the flimsy pretext women are sharper than men, also cheaper to hire. We intend to break that up as soon as the law goes into effect.

No one can overestimate the fun we expect to have when the sex barriers are lowered and we are emancipated. Stand aside, dollies. We're taking over.

War The Hard Way

Days Of Terror In The Congo

Nun Tells Of Treatment At Hands Of Rebels

Sister Anne-Maria Merkens, 45, of Hoensbroek, Holland, told this story of weeks of ordeal in The Congo on her arrival in Belgium.

BRUSSELS (AP) — Sometimes, in the past two weeks, I wished the Simbas, the Congo rebels, had killed me. Forced to parade naked in the street, I and my sister nuns were beaten till we screamed while Congolese youths danced, jeered and yelled at us.

Looking back, I don't hold it against the Congolese, not even against the Simbas. They just didn't know any better. For all that I suffered I am keen to get back to the Congo.

I first went to the Congo in 1954. They made me the mother superior of a mission hospital at Bondamba, about 300 miles northwest of Stanleyville. There we were happy taking care of Congolese orphans and sick people. We also ran a school for Congolese girls.

THE FIRST real hint of trouble came last Sept. 15 when a group of Simbas, some wearing leopard skins, descended on the mission and accused us of transmitting messages to the Americans. They took away our transistor set and some supplies of textbooks and clothing for the schoolgirls.

For several days they harried us, so terrifying our hospital patients that even the very sick ones fled from their beds and left us.

For a couple of weeks it was comparatively calm. Then at the beginning of October back came the Simbas. They killed our cows, stole our chickens and raided our rice supply. They promised to come back and pay the bill but they never did.

ONE NIGHT they came back and abducted all our school girls, children aged from between 7 and 14. They took them off with them and spent the night dancing, singing and sleeping with them.

Always when the Simbas came it was obvious they were drunk and drugged. There was a kind of drug they burned in a bottle, sniffing the fumes it produced.

At this stage we were not ill treated personally. They contented themselves with insulting us. They only dropped their insulting manner when they wanted to have their wounds patched up. We treated several of them.

The real ordeal began when they swooped on the mission at the beginning of November and arrested another nun and myself.

We were taken off in a car driven by a Congolese rebel who boasted that he had just undergone a pagan initiation rite. It involved inflicting some sort of wound on his forehead because that was swollen up in the middle into a large lump. Many of the Simbas carried the mark.

THERE FOLLOWED a trip toward Basoko lasting more than a week. As we went through villages, inhabitants seemed to get progressively angrier at us. They would swarm around, thump on the car and rock it. They thought we were Americans and screamed accusingly at us, "Yankees!"

The last part of the journey we were taken under escort in a motorized canoe along the Congo River. On arriving in Basoko, the Simbas welcomed us with a barrage of insults and made us jump into the river up to our knees.

We were herded in a house that had been taken over by the Simbas to serve as a prison. There we were told to take off our clothes for an "inspection." All our possessions were taken, money, passports, rosaries and crucifixes.

All these things were thrown in a heap in the middle of the street and we were told: "Now you have lost your magic omens. You have no more power."

THEY GAVE us back our clothes then and locked us up in the prison, which already contained 16 other nuns, 23 priests and three civilians.

The next day, Nov. 11, the terror reached its height. The Simbas heard two light planes overhead, thought they were American and flew into a rage.

We were just sitting down to breakfast when in rushed a Simba who, with a sweep of his spear, brushed the table clean of all food and crockery.

Shouting accusations that we had summoned the Americans during the night, the Simbas attacked the priests. They hammered them mercilessly with sticks and rifle butts until nearly everyone was covered with blood and bruises.

Then we were marched outside and told to strip off all our clothes. Naked, we were ordered to sit down. Then the rebels pitched in to us.

Ferocious blows from rifles and clubs rained repeatedly on our bare bodies. We screamed and cried but they kept on. All the time Congolese youths danced and yelled insults at us from the side of the road.

Finally, with blood flowing in the road, the Simba commander ordered his men to stop. Myself, I was bleeding from a big gash on the head and was covered with bruises.

The Simbas hustled us back inside the prison. Still racked with pain and exhausted, we were all put in a small room and told to sit down. Then the 23 priests and the three civilians were herded in with us.

The Paul Carlsons Labor In Obscurity

WASHINGTON

There is a breed of American doctors who gather the world's poorest humanity in their hands and who leave their mark on the minds of men from the mountains of Southeast Asia to the steaming forests of Africa and South America.

And, save for the moments when they dramatically die, the Tom Dooleys and the Paul Carlsons labor largely unknown and unacclaimed by their fellow Americans.

One such dramatic moment came this week in a place called Lumumba Square in a city called Stanleyville in a country called the Congo. It was a strange place to die for a man from a more common place called Rolling Hills, Calif.

But Dr. Paul Carlson — a man with something to give — had chosen to be there because he felt he was needed there.

So it is for a growing number of American doctors who forsake convenient American living and rewarding medical practice at home to serve for nearly nothing in the wildernesses of the world.

There are more than 2,000 American doctors at work today — strange transplants into the frustrations of poverty, among diseases they never see at home, in places where suspicion is the rule and trust must be won, and where the most important mail from home might be a package of surplus drug samples.

Like Carlson, they may work in a one-man, cinder-block hospital in a jungle clearing, they may find their day beginning before dawn and ending beyond midnight, they may find the simplest needs for clean water and trained help hard to come by. They certainly find no shortage of patients.

For Carlson — sole doctor for 100,000 Africans — the need was clear when he visited the Congo in 1961. He closed up practice in California, trained in Britain and went to answer that need. He almost certainly felt that even his hardest efforts were only a drop in the bucket of African poverty.

So it is for some 700 Protestant and some 50 Catholic medical missionaries who try to cope with the brutal facts of malnutrition and disease, who see a woman bear six children knowing perhaps only one will survive to adolescence with normal mental capacity.

And so it is for the 150 doctors who serve under Care-Medico programs and the 35 to 40 who put in intensive tours for the medical ship Hope.

Others work for the Peace Corps and other U.S. government agencies and the emphasis is often on training native talent to take over when the Americans go home.

The American Medical Association says it receives hundreds of queries from doctors asking how they can help overseas. It also has a long list of requests for medical help from Malaysia to Nigeria.

To help the American doctor abroad, some 35 groups collect old medical journals and drug samples from doctors to send to missionaries.

What Carlson saw in Africa were the commonplace, awful contagions of yaws and leprosy, and epidemics of infectious disease that merely trouble affluent Americans but kill the undernourished of other continents.

To the Africans, men like Carlson bring more than hope. They bring life.

To Americans, the way Carlson lived and served should likely be more important than the way he died, caught in an unfortunate tide of political distress. To Carlson's father, perhaps it was most simple of all:

"I'm not as much proud as humble," he said. "What he's supposed to die for — this does not make me proud — it makes me humble."

The War On Poverty

By Harry Kelly

WASHINGTON

How does a big city begin attacking the deep, sprawling roots of poverty?

Five cities that got the bulk of the federal grants for community action in the opening assault in the "war on poverty" Tuesday showed blueprints geared to education.

Of the $13 million set aside by Sargent Shriver, head of the new Office of Economic Opportunity, for local-run projects, five cities got a total of $9.1 million:

Detroit, $2.8 million; Los Angeles, $2.7 million; Washington, $1.4 million; Pittsburgh, $1.2 million and Atlanta, $1 million.

How do they plan to use the money?

Detroit aims to "fill the gaps in services for the needy by stepping up the work of existing agencies and unifying their efforts with new projects made possible" by the funds approved Tuesday.

One project is establishment of four community action centers and 20 subcenters in low-income neighborhoods.

The idea is to insure that the various social services — such as health, welfare, legal aid, job counseling and agency referral — actually reach the poor by housing the activities in poverty-stricken areas.

The most important feature, a spokesman for the Office of Economic Opportunity said, is a program of remedial education.

"The standard education menu isn't doing the job for children from deprived families," he said.

The remedial education plan includes five pre-school centers to prepare children, from 3 to 5 years, to enter school — as a "compensation for difficulties in deprived family circumstances." The program would continue through the regular grades with stress on remedial reading and speaking.

Los Angeles has a similar program, "to help offset the problems of poverty-stricken children and adults lacking basic schooling."

Like Detroit, there will be pre-school projects to prepare slum children for elementary school. School hours would be extended to provide more instructional and recreational programs — "to provide a place," as one man involved in the program put it, "where some kids can just sit down and look at a book."

Los Angeles, like Detroit and other cities, intends to use a share of the grant to hire people from these low-income neighborhoods to help in the program, in jobs ranging from aides at pre-school centers to directing youngsters working in the neighborhood programs.

Pittsburgh's poverty attack also focuses on pre-school and adult education, family welfare and neighborhood development. It will center on some 60,000 persons in eight neighborhoods.

High on Atlanta's priority list are plans to expand one neighborhood service center and to open centers in other areas. Seven such centers are planned.

The nation's capital will use $851,612 of its grant for neighborhood development, including four centers, each housing social services that were nonexistent before or scattered all over town.

Letter To The Editor

I have restrained myself from answering Truman's latest blast against the late Gen. MacArthur, hoping someone more capable would write in defense of the man I consider the greatest general of all time and the greatest American of this century.

MacArthur's footprints on the sands of time are indelible and cannot be erased by any one.

Most people ripen as fruit and as they mature they become more mellow, but in Truman's case it seems as though he has been in reverse and cultivated a sense of acrimony. And thus he has arrived to his post-humous "decisions."

In regard to egotism, MacArthur, by birth and nature, was a great man, and Truman wanted to be one. In the second place, Truman should know that it is not given to man the power to damn anything but his own soul.

It is common knowledge today by informed Americans that if Gen. MacArthur had not been recalled by Truman and had been permitted to bomb the northern supply bases the Korean War would have ended honorably and we would not be shedding blood in Viet Nam today.

Few men can honestly say with Lincoln and MacArthur that they did their duty as God gave them the light to see their duty.

Midland Aids Move To End Air Pollution

Midland Council has joined a movement to seek legislation to provide tax relief for equipment and facilities that industries install to alleviate air pollution.

Councilmen at an abbreviated session Wednesday night were told by Mayor Eli Corak that Beaver County commissioners have forwarded a resolution to the State Legislature and to Congress for tax write-offs for those plants that install devices for control or abatement of smoke and dust. Corak is also a commissioner.

Air pollution has been discussed at Midland for several years and Council, on motion of Councilman Joe D'Alesio, voted to instruct Atty. Frank Suffoletta, solicitor, to prepare a simlar resolution to be sent to the legislators.

Councilman Ray Presutti said a resolution, requesting state action that was adopted at Council's earlier meeting, was delivered in Harrisburg Wednesday by Floree J. Aquino, Beaver County representative for Region 3 of the Pennsylvania Air Pollution Control Commissioner.

The resolution pointed out that a survey by the state group on the smoke control problem in the county was completed more than a year ago yet no action has been taken.

The resolution urged that the commission "adopt further regulations to control the emission of dust, smoke and odors from industries in the county."

Councilman Lester Trainer, streets chairman, asked Council to reverse a previous recommendation by his committee that Railroad Ln., between 11th and 12th Sts., be made a one-way to eastbound traffic.

Trainer said that after further investigation and discussions with several merchants in the area, and with officials of the Crucible Steel Co., he had determined that it should be continued as a two-way street.

Matt Brozic, street superintendent, reported that the new ice skating rink on Midland Heights should be completed by the end of the week.

Councilman Joseph Hibbard gave a commendation on behalf of Council to the Midland fire departments for "the fine job" they did in fighting the recent fire on Penn Ave., and preventing its spread.

Council accepted a bid of $85 from Benjamine Irwin of Midland for 12 abandoned autos that were removed from the streets. William Kelley of Darlington submitted a bid of $60.

Hibbard presided in the absence of president, William Vinovich. The next regular meeting will be Dec. 10.

The first recognized mile recordholder was Charles Lawes of England who ran the distance in 4:56.0 in 1864.

Watchman, 74, Dies In Blaze He Set Himself

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A 74-year-old night watchman died Thursday night in a fire he set himself as part of his job at the Goldberg Iron and Steel Co. in suburban Grandview.

Police said the watchman, John D. Johnson called earlier Thursday night to inform them that he was setting a fire in the yard. The company periodically sets fires to remove wood and other burnable materials from scrap metal to be sold, and police said it is normal procedure for the company to notify them when the fires are planned.

A later check at the yard failed to turn up the watchman and officers called the fire department to put out the blaze. Johnson's body was found in the ashes.

Police and fire officials theorized that Johnson became entangled in some wire in the area of the blaze and was unable to escape the flames. A coroner's investigation was planned.

Coeds 'Dunk' Student Calling Them Ugly

LIVERPOOL, England (AP) — Henry Osahon, 27, a student from Nigeria, wrote in the Liverpool University newspaper last week that the university had "the largest collection of ugly, shabbily dressed and ill behaved girls in Britain."

Thursday six of the coeds grabbed Henry as he walked through the campus, pulled off his pants, dragged him to a pond and threw him in.

Henry admitted he deserved it.

Schremp of Amherst for re-election as USW District 28 director for the Cleveland, Lorain and Akron area, and Steve Caruso, Local 1104 vice president, for election to one of three international USW teller posts.

Thieves In Cleveland Get $5,000 In Liquor

CLEVELAND (AP)—Thieves entered a state liquor store on the west side through the skylight and carried out an estimated $5,000 worth of liquor Thursday, police said.

Thomas McSweeney, a representative of the state auditor's office, said the loss was one of the largest ever in Cleveland. Police said it probably took four men using a truck to haul away the stock from the store.

A Cross-Eyed Lion

The man responsible for "Flipper," NBC's highest-rated new show, and for such earlier TV diversions as "Sea Hunt," "The Aquanauts," and "The Man and the Challenge," is in New York trying to interest the studios in in a series he wants to do starring a cross - eyed lion. The TV show would be a weekly extension of a movie Ivan Tors produced at MGM for release next Easter.

Richard Doan

IT'S A comedy-with-animals called "Clarence, the Cross-Eyed Lion," featuring Betsy Drake, Richard Haydn, Marshall Thompson and Cheryl Miller.

The latter two would be in the TV series also, cast as a veterinarian and his daughter living in Africa. Clarence would be their pet lion.

Tors has entitled the TV edition "daktari," which he explains is "Swahili for doctor."

Tors described the projected program as a "very sad comedy." The Hungarian-born producer explained that cross-eyed lions in Africa are destroyed because their defective eyesight makes them particular hazards. The movie, and the proposed TV show, depict the human befriending of such a lion.

TORS HAS "Clarence" at his animal ranch, "Africa U. S. A., " which is at Palmdale, outside Los Angeles. He said he got a noted eye specialist to examine the beast in hopes of having his eyes straightened, but the specialist felt such an operation would be impossible.

A firm believer that animals have no natural hostility to man, Tors also seriously considers the dolphin more intelligent than human beings.

"My conclusion after 10 years (of studying animal behavior)," Tors said earnestly, " is that man is the only creature that is really wild."

-:-

TORS ADMITS he has his problems with the dolphins, though.

"The big problem is emotional," he explained. "Once they get attached to people, they demand a great deal of affection."

He said he had three people assigned full time to watch over Flipper, a girl dolphin who has a male role in the TV show.

"Otherwise, she'd get neurotic," he claimed.

Dolphins, he reported get only one disease, gastric ulcers.

"Flipper" is derived from a movie Tors made, but he did not have a TV series in mind when he filmed it. On the other hand, "Clarence" was deliberately plotted as a possible TV series as well as movie.

Network brass will get a preview of it, as a sort of pilot — perhaps, as Tors noted, the most expensive ever made.

NBC NEWS has named John Chancellor as White House correspondent.

The network has not yet announced a settlement of salary differences with Sander Vanocur, former White House correspondent, who quit recently.

The appointment of Chancellor appears to mean that, if and when Vanocur returns, a different assignment will have to be found for him.

NBC said that Robert Goralski, who has been on the White House beat since Vanocur left, has been transferred to the State Department, replacing Eli Abel, who in turn will become diplomatic correspondent, a newly-created title.

Chancellor has had many NBC News assignments, including Moscow. He also put in a year as the "Today" show's host.

Prison 'Normal' After Rebellion By 134 Inmates

PETROS, Tenn. (AP) — Except for a slight revision in the policy of handling prisoners' mail, nothing has changed much at the Brushy Mountain State Prison as a result of an 18-hour sit-down rebellion by 134 coal-mining inmates.

Harry Avery, state corrections commissioner, after conferring for nearly two hours with the rebels Thanksgiving Day, returned to Nashville.

Officials said everything is "back to normal" at the prison and that no disciplinary action will be taken against those who revolted.

The rebels were scheduled to return to the mines today, along with three mine foremen they held hostage during the Wednesday protest demonstration.

Commissioner Avery and Warden John Winsett agreed to permit the prisoners to mail four letters per week instead of only three as in the past. And Winsett said the number of pages of outgoing letters would be increased from two to three. A major complaint of the rebels entered around mail privileges.

The only weapons the rebels had inside their dark mine shaft were dynamite caps and dynamite. The hostages were unharmed.

To Break Ground

RIO GRANDE, Ohio (AP)—Rio Grande College will break ground for its new library next Wednesday. The school has received pledges to date of $429,000 for the library building campaign and will follow Wednesday's semiannual trustees' meeting with a victory dinner.

Since 1945, members of the Big Ten have won 328, lost 144 and tied 20 in non - conference football competition.

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Patience Needed To Help Child Learn

Whether you are trying to help your child, at four or five, to tie his shoes; at six to print or write his name, to read or to spell; or at 12 or 14, to reason out a problem in arithmetic, you succeed in proportion to how calm and patient you are. Many teachers and some gifted educators still warn parents against trying to help their school children at home with their lessons. The reason they give for doing so is their fear that these parents will teach the child by wrong methods.

Dr. Garry Myers

Granted that some parents will. But many of these may help their child enjoy achievement, enjoy success at learning; and when they do, consider how great has been their contribution.

I have a dream of the day when practically all teachers, trainers and supervisors of teachers, and professors of education will encourage parents to help their school children at home and learn together with these children.

INSTEAD of telling parents not to help their children with their school work, these teachers and philosophers of education will encourage parents to help them.

Instead of worrying lest the parents might use wrong techniques in helping their children at home, these teachers and other experts will have but one main concern, that the parents always will be calm, kind and patient with the child as they try to help him; that they never will grow angry at his halting, stumbling or making mistakes; that they will strive always to find ways to help this child enjoy achievement and feel hopeful; that they will help him succeed and will celebrate his successes with him.

You may have a child in the elementary grades. When you help him with his reading, spelling or arithmetic, you should have just one purpose — to help him enjoy success and feel hopeful. Nothing else may be as hard for you to do as always to be calm and patient with him. When he pauses or makes a mistake, you will incline to feel vexed at him, especially if he once or twice repeats the same mistake. Before very long you may be shouting angrily at him, and he will almost surely make still more mistakes.

SOME parents admit that they grow so angry at the child while helping him with his lessons that they give up in despair or the child literally runs away from them. Sometimes they say he ends up in tears. Practically all such letters tell of the "awful time" the parent has. I don't remember reading one letter in which the parent was aware of the suffering of the child at such times.

If, while trying to help your child, you find yourself the least bit angry at him, feel the slightest stirrings in your insides, or hear your voice rising at all, do walk away from him as unfit to be in his presence.

It might help you to use your imagination and try to learn how you would feel in your child's place. Your trouble is that you tend to think only about yourself. You seem to suppose your child is just ornery, just trying to make it hard for you.

But if you will use your common sense you will easily see that he is not, that when he makes or repeats a mistake it happens in spite of himself. A mistake once made is likely to be made again, especially by the child under emotional strain. A word or letter wrongly repeated tends to stick just as surely as when it is correctly repeated.

YOU DO best when you keep trying to imagine yourself in the place of your child, as you try to help him with his school work.

PETROS, Tenn. (AP) — Except for a slight revision in the policy of handling prisoners' mail, nothing has changed much at the Brushy Mountain State Prison as a result of an 18-hour sit-down rebellion by 134 coal-mining inmates.

Harry Avery, state corrections commissioner, after conferring for nearly two hours with the rebels Thanksgiving Day, returned to Nashville.

Officials said everything is "back to normal" at the prison and that no disciplinary action will be taken against those who revolted.

The rebels were scheduled to return to the mines today, along with three mine foremen they held hostage during the Wednesday protest demonstration.

Commissioner Avery and Warden John Winsett agreed to permit the prisoners to mail four letters per week instead of only three as in the past. And Winsett said the number of pages of outgoing letters would be increased from two to three. A major complaint of the rebels entered around mail privileges.

The only weapons the rebels had inside their dark mine shaft were dynamite caps and dynamite. The hostages were unharmed.

To Break Ground

RIO GRANDE, Ohio (AP)—Rio Grande College will break ground for its new library next Wednesday. The school has received pledges to date of $429,000 for the library building campaign and will follow Wednesday's semiannual trustees' meeting with a victory dinner.

Since 1945, members of the Big Ten have won 328, lost 144 and tied 20 in non - conference football competition.

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Patience Needed To Help Child Learn

Whether you are trying to help your child, at four or five, to tie his shoes; at six to print or write his name, to read or to spell; or at 12 or 14, to reason out a problem in arithmetic, you succeed in proportion to how calm and patient you are. Many teachers and some gifted educators still warn parents against trying to help their school children at home with their lessons. The reason they give for doing so is their fear that these parents will teach the child by wrong methods.

Dr. Garry Myers

Granted that some parents will. But many of these may help their child enjoy achievement, enjoy success at learning; and when they do, consider how great has been their contribution.

I have a dream of the day when practically all teachers, trainers and supervisors of teachers, and professors of education will encourage parents to help their school children at home and learn together with these children.

INSTEAD of telling parents not to help their children with their school work, these teachers and philosophers of education will encourage parents to help them.

Instead of worrying lest the parents might use wrong techniques in helping their children at home, these teachers and other experts will have but one main concern, that the parents always will be calm, kind and patient with the child as they try to help him; that they never will grow angry at his halting, stumbling or making mistakes; that they will strive always to find ways to help this child enjoy achievement and feel hopeful; that they will help him succeed and will celebrate his successes with him.

You may have a child in the elementary grades. When you help him with his reading, spelling or arithmetic, you should have just one purpose — to help him enjoy success and feel hopeful. Nothing else may be as hard for you to do as always to be calm and patient with him. When he pauses or makes a mistake, you will incline to feel vexed at him, especially if he once or twice repeats the same mistake. Before very long you may be shouting angrily at him, and he will almost surely make still more mistakes.

SOME parents admit that they grow so angry at the child while helping him with his lessons that they give up in despair or the child literally runs away from them. Sometimes they say he ends up in tears. Practically all such letters tell of the "awful time" the parent has. I don't remember reading one letter in which the parent was aware of the suffering of the child at such times.

If, while trying to help your child, you find yourself the least bit angry at him, feel the slightest stirrings in your insides, or hear your voice rising at all, do walk away from him as unfit to be in his presence.

It might help you to use your imagination and try to learn how you would feel in your child's place. Your trouble is that you tend to think only about yourself. You seem to suppose your child is just ornery, just trying to make it hard for you.

But if you will use your common sense you will easily see that he is not, that when he makes or repeats a mistake it happens in spite of himself. A mistake once made is likely to be made again, especially by the child under emotional strain. A word or letter wrongly repeated tends to stick just as surely as when it is correctly repeated.

YOU DO best when you keep trying to imagine yourself in the place of your child, as you try to help him with his school work.

Thanksgiving Dinner Extra Special

4 Collegians End 42-Day Trial Diet For Spacemen

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Thanksgiving dinner must have been extra special for four collegians fresh—really fresh after their first baths and shaves in six weeks—from six weeks on a trial diet for space travelers.

Two students from Ohio State University, one from the University of Dayton, and a recent U.D. graduate served as guinea pigs in a 42-day test on rations of "freeze-dehydrated foods" in one-inch cubes, along with distilled beverages.

They also had to go the entire time without shaving, bathing, combing their hair, trimming their nails, changing clothing and smoking "to evaluate minimum personal hygiene procedures." They spent 28 days in a spacecraft-like capsule and 14 days in hospital isolation.

The oreal was part of continuing research at the Aerospace Medical Research Laboratories of Wright-Patterson Air Force Base.

All four emerged Tuesday with beards and grown-out crewcuts but evidently none the worse for wear. Only one lost weight—six pounds—on their ration of 2,500 calories a day apiece.

They are Robert D. Trepp, 22, an Ohio State medical student from Lakewood and the group's only married man; John Richey, 21, an OSU freshman from New Philadelphia; Daniel M. Tomica, 22, U. of Dayton graduate from Bradford, Pa., and Vince Mixie, 24, a U. D. junior from McKees Rocks, Pa.

Trepp said Thursday it took about three days to get used to the food but that it "wasn't so bad—we got so we looked forward to it."

Trepp said no major problems arose.

And, for this longest period to date that men have dined solely on "space foods," as the research center described it, Tomica, Trepp, Richey and Mixie received $1,000 apiece from the Air Force.

ELHS Band's Appearance Impressive In TV Parade

Snaking through downtown Philadelphia in swing-step past thousands of bundled-up spectators, East Liverpool High School's Marching Band was given generous coverage by television cameras flashing the annual Thanksgiving Day parade back home and to viewers across the nation.

Sheri Lewis and Allen Ludden, TV commentators, appeared impressed with the size of Director Vincent Maola's 160-member band and took time to read a brief description, relating the ELHS musicians traveled the longest distance to perform.

A large sign prepared for the occasion and the band's halftime show in Pittsburgh was wheeled ahead of the musicians and when it came into camera focus, nationwide viewers read that East Liverpool, Ohio, "is the Pottery Center of the World."

Sound equipment picked up the band's snappy music for the video spectators as it filed past the TV cameras. Miss Lewis appeared baffled by the tune, but recognized it after a moment and picked up a lyric ". . .and they swam, and they swam, right over the dam." Their parade cadence was perfect.

Ludden commented that the ELHS group is known as the "Twin Bands" because they break up into two separate groups for football halftime shows. The host of the TV show, "Password," Ludden also pointed out that band members helped raise funds for the trip by working on various projects.

The band members and the 17 chaperones arrived in Philadelphia Wednesday at 4:30 p. m. and, following dinner, attended the performance of "My Fair Lady."

The band members were in the line of march at 8:30 a. m. for the parade that began at 10:15.

and the 12,723-ton Norwegian tanker Stolt Dagali.

The 629-foot-long, 25,320-ton Shalom had sailed from New York at 11:15 the night before, after a round of gay farewell parties on what was to have been a leisurely 10-day cruise to the West Indies.

Aboard the sparkling white ship were 1,076 persons. They included crew members and a host of entertainers. No one suffered an injury of any consequence, it was reported.

The tanker, whose home port is Oslo, was inbound for Newark, N.J., on a voyage from Philadelphia. Her tanks were 80 per cent filled with a cargo of vegetable oil.

As the two plowed through the foggy murk on what was to be a collision course, neither apparently had any impending sense of danger even though both were equipped with radar.

Their captains later declined to comment on circumstances preceding the collision.

Suddenly the rending crash occurred, with the Shalom's bow slicing into the tanker.

Some of the tanker's crew were flung from their bunks into the icy ocean. They found themselves fighting for life without an instant's notion of what had happened.

Some took to lifeboats while 10 others, including Capt. Kristian Bendorsen, remained with the forward section that included the tanker's bridge.

At 2:23 a.m., the tanker sent an SOS message. Moments later it asked the Shalom to stand by and give aid.

The Coast Guard flashed an alert for a possible "major marine disaster." For a time there were fears the liner might be in danger too. Coast Guard ships, planes and helicopters sped for the scene.

Another cruise ship returning from the Caribbean, the 20,000-ton Santa Paula, noted the position and headed for it also.

Aboard the Shalom, passengers still awake were startled by the crunch of the collision. Some couples on the dance floor were thrown off their feet. Others abed were tossed about and one or two sent rolling onto the floor.

The ship's intercom loudspeakers announced that there had been a collision. Passengers were assured that the liner was not in any danger. They were told the ship was standing by to pick up survivors from the tanker.

Passengers said afterward there was no panic, and praised the liner's crew for its conduct.

Passengers said the dance band began playing again about 4 a.m., the bar was reopened and the ship served free drinks after the first round.

Tons of salt water poured through a huge gash at the liner's bow. The crew quickly sealed off forward compartments by closing watertight doors.

Parade At Palestine Will Be Held Tuesday

EAST PALESTINE — Plans for a Christmas parade were completed at a meeting of a Chamber of Commerce committee Wednesday.

Over 70 units, including five bands, will take part in the event Tuesday night. Alan Hill will be parade marshal. A community sing will follow at a Market St. tree.

Treats will be distributed along the line of march by Santa Claus.

The tiny village of Ocracoke, N.C., at the toe of a slim island on the stormy Outer Banks, still depends on the sea for its income, for food and as a lure to visitors seeking quiet, rest and sport. There life moves at a leisurely pace.

Stanleyville

City Of Desolation, Bloodstains

STANLEYVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Stanleyville is a city of desolation, of bloodstains and unburied corpses rotting in the tropic sun.

Until Belgian paratroopers ended rebel rule Tuesday, Stanleyville was the capital of the Peking-backed "Congolese People's Republic." The city had 300,000 inhabitants, including more than 1,000 whites.

At least 38 of the whites are now believed to have been slaughtered by the rebels in a last-minute bloodbath before the paratroopers seized the city's center. Two were Americans — Dr. Paul Carlson of Rollings Hills, Calif., a Protestant medical missionary who had been condemned to death by the rebels as a spy, and Phyllis Rine of Cincinnati, Ohio, a Protestant mission worker.

About 300 rebels or rebel supporters are believed to have died in Stanleyville.

It is still not healthy to move around. Rebel snipers are holed up in the top floors of buildings.

Except for heavily armed military trucks, the streets are empty. Shopwindows are shattered or scarred by bullet holes. Shop doors are open but there is no one behind the counters.

Automobiles are abandoned in the middle of streets. Many have flat tires, others have open hoods. They have been stripped for spare parts.

The rattle of automatic rifles and machine guns is a constant reminder of the rebel presence. Premier Moise Tshombe's white mercenaries and Belgian paratroopers are trying to flush out the snipers.

Across the 1,000-yard-wide Congo River, the rebels are still masters of a section of Stanleyville. Mercenary pilots in converted T6 training planes blasted the south bank of the river with rockets and machine guns.

Maj. Michael Hoare, 46, commander of the South African mercenaries, dropped one rebel across the river with a rifle shot from his hotel window.

There is plenty of evidence of Chinese Communist influence. I slept Tuesday night in the hotel room of a senior officer of the nonexistent rebel air force. He had a large set of Mao Tze-tung's works.

Articles in the rebel newspaper, "The Marty," show a strong pro-Chinese influence. Back numbers of the biweekly newsletter give evidence of the rebels' glee at the ouster of Nikita Khrushchev.

Tax

address by the governor that is usually held any time the legislature convenes for a new session, whether regular or extraordinary. The Senate chamber lacks room for a joint session.

However, Barron sent up a brief message to be read to the separate houses by their clerks.

The West Virginia income tax law is tied closely to federal income tax statutes. As amended in 1963, the state law imposes a graduated tax based on 6 per cent of the taxpayer's federal income tax under federal rates then in effect. The state tax scale is independent of subsequent changes in federal rates.

This year Congress passed amendments including a tax cut and numerous other changes in federal income tax laws. The federal rate cut by itself would not affect state income tax revenue, now running about $18 million a year.

However, this year's federal amendments also changed the rules on figuring taxable income. Some deductions and exclusions were increased; others were lowered or taken away.

The intent of the state law has been to apply law governing computation of federally taxable income to the figuring of state taxable income as well. However, the state law as it stands bases computation of taxable income only on federal laws passed before Jan. 1, 1963.

The bill awaiting today's session simply changes dates in one paragraph of the state law so the 1964 federal amendments will apply to calculation of taxable income for state purposes.

Without passage of the bill, West Virginia taxpayers would have to follow one set of rules in figuring their state income tax next year and another set in figuring their income for federal tax purposes.

State Tax Commissioner G. Thomas Battle said this week the 1964 federal amendments include 13 major ones which, if the pending bill is passed, will apply to computation of taxable income for state tax purposes. He said five of these changes are in the direction of increasing tax revenue. The other eight reduce revenue.

"Based on the most reliable information available, it is anticipated that these provisions... will tend to offset one another, the net result being virtually no change in anticipated revenue from the West Virginia personal income tax," Battle said.

Nam. Though Taylor praised the "courage and determination" of the new civilian premier, Tran Van Huong, authorities here say the situation will get increasingly desperate unless the new regime can demonstrate it can command and enlist support from such politically powerful groups as students and Buddhists.

Against these benefits of a possible escalation, or step-up of the war, the President and his advisers must weigh the possibility that such moves may provoke responses from North Viet Nam's regular military forces and even from those of Communist China.

The Soviet Union injected its own warning into the Vietnamese situation Thursday but failed to stir up any concern or even very much interest in government quarters here.

A statement by the Soviet news agency Tass declared that persons who "harbor adventurous plans" for Southeast Asia "should understand that the Soviet Union cannot remain indifferent to the fate of a fraternal Socialist country and is ready to render the necessary assistance."

Upon his arrival at Andrews Air Force Base Taylor denied reports which had preceded him here from Saigon that he would present a plan to President Johnson for extending military operations to the north and would resign unless Johnson accepts the plan.

"So far as I'm concerned I've enlisted in this war for the duration," Taylor said, implying that whether he stays on is not his decision but the President's.

Johnson and Taylor are expected to meet Sunday or Monday after the President returns from his extended visit to his Texas ranch.

Across the 1,000-yard-wide Congo River, the rebels are still masters of a section of Stanleyville. Mercenary pilots in converted T6 training planes blasted the south bank of the river with rockets and machine guns.

Maj. Michael Hoare, 46, commander of the South African mercenaries, dropped one rebel across the river with a rifle shot from his hotel window.

There is plenty of evidence of Chinese Communist influence. I slept Tuesday night in the hotel room of a senior officer of the nonexistent rebel air force. He had a large set of Mao Tze-tung's works.

Articles in the rebel newspaper, "The Marty," show a strong pro-Chinese influence. Back numbers of the biweekly newsletter give evidence of the rebels' glee at the ouster of Nikita Khrushchev.

address by the governor that is usually held any time the legislature convenes for a new session, whether regular or extraordinary. The Senate chamber lacks room for a joint session.

However, Barron sent up a brief message to be read to the separate houses by their clerks.

The West Virginia income tax law is tied closely to federal income tax statutes. As amended in 1963, the state law imposes a graduated tax based on 6 per cent of the taxpayer's federal income tax under federal rates then in effect. The state tax scale is independent of subsequent changes in federal rates.

This year Congress passed amendments including a tax cut and numerous other changes in federal income tax laws. The federal rate cut by itself would not affect state income tax revenue, now running about $18 million a year.

However, this year's federal amendments also changed the rules on figuring taxable income. Some deductions and exclusions were increased; others were lowered or taken away.

The intent of the state law has been to apply law governing computation of federally taxable income to the figuring of state taxable income as well. However, the state law as it stands bases computation of taxable income only on federal laws passed before Jan. 1, 1963.

The bill awaiting today's session simply changes dates in one paragraph of the state law so the 1964 federal amendments will apply to calculation of taxable income for state purposes.

Without passage of the bill, West Virginia taxpayers would have to follow one set of rules in figuring their state income tax next year and another set in figuring their income for federal tax purposes.

State Tax Commissioner G. Thomas Battle said this week the 1964 federal amendments include 13 major ones which, if the pending bill is passed, will apply to computation of taxable income for state tax purposes. He said five of these changes are in the direction of increasing tax revenue. The other eight reduce revenue.

"Based on the most reliable information available, it is anticipated that these provisions... will tend to offset one another, the net result being virtually no change in anticipated revenue from the West Virginia personal income tax," Battle said.

Viet Nam

Nam. Though Taylor praised the "courage and determination" of the new civilian premier, Tran Van Huong, authorities here say the situation will get increasingly desperate unless the new regime can demonstrate it can command and enlist support from such politically powerful groups as students and Buddhists.

Against these benefits of a possible escalation, or step-up of the war, the President and his advisers must weigh the possibility that such moves may provoke responses from North Viet Nam's regular military forces and even from those of Communist China.

The Soviet Union injected its own warning into the Vietnamese situation Thursday but failed to stir up any concern or even very much interest in government quarters here.

A statement by the Soviet news agency Tass declared that persons who "harbor adventurous plans" for Southeast Asia "should understand that the Soviet Union cannot remain indifferent to the fate of a fraternal Socialist country and is ready to render the necessary assistance."

Upon his arrival at Andrews Air Force Base Taylor denied reports which had preceded him here from Saigon that he would present a plan to President Johnson for extending military operations to the north and would resign unless Johnson accepts the plan.

"So far as I'm concerned I've enlisted in this war for the duration," Taylor said, implying that whether he stays on is not his decision but the President's.

Johnson and Taylor are expected to meet Sunday or Monday after the President returns from his extended visit to his Texas ranch.

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Pearle Cole, physically frail but militant in spirit, marked her 100th birthday today.

On the eve of the anniversary she told a reporter, "When I was a girl, civilization was just like it is now — only it's gotten a whole lot worse."

Mrs. Cole, born at Lealand, Mich., in 1864, came to Texas in 1882 and has lived in Dallas since 1885. She makes her home with a daughter, Mrs. G. E. McLelland.

First Family Had Holiday In Seclusion

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, nearing the end of an extended holiday stay at his ranch home, had no announced appointments today.

Johnson and wife Lady Bird spent Thanksgiving in seclusion, so far as newsmen were able to determine.

Malcolm Kilduff, acting White House press secretary, furnished little information about the First Family's holiday activities.

Kilduff said the President worked during the morning and kept in touch with the Congo situation.

"The President spent the afternoon quietly with Mrs. Johnson," he added.

At some point during the evening, it was understood, the Johnsons were joined by their two daughters, Lynda, 20, and Luci Baines, 17, for the traditional turkey dinner.

The daughters flew to Texas from Washington Thursday and, with friends, attended the Texas-Texas A&M football game in Austin before flying to the ranch. Lynda was a student at Texas until she transferred earlier this year to George Washington University in Washington.

Soldiers Seeking 100 In Plot Against Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Federal soldiers searched today through the interior city of Goiania for more than 100 persons accused of involvement in a Communist-backed plot against the Brazilian government.

Army Col. Carlos Meira Mattos Thursday led the troops into Goiania, capital of Goias State, and deposed Gov. Maruro Borges. The war ministry said he was the center of a "subversive focal point." Mattos was named temporary administrator.

Medical Mirror
SNEEZING IN RESPONSE TO LIGHT
Q. I have a tendency to sneeze when suddenly exposed to bright light. Is there a medical explanation for this "allergy" to light?
A. This reaction to bright light is by no means an allergy. Sneezing in response to light is a type of reflex action which is more common than might be expected. Among hospital patients questioned, better than 15 per cent of white patients had observed the reaction in themselves. In contrast, the reaction was not observed by colored persons. The attitude of persons being questioned about the photic (response to light) sneeze is of interest. Many who have never experienced the reflex reacted to questioning in a surprised way, as much as to say, "Are you crazy or something?" Conversely, one woman who was questioned said, "Why, I thought everyone did."
FLAT FEET AND HEREDITY
Q. Is the tendency toward flat feet passed along from one generation to another?
A. It seems to be. The majority of children with flat feet have the deformity as a result of generalized laxity of ligaments which normally support the arch. It is not unusual to find that one or both parents of such children also have this condition.

First Family Had Holiday In Seclusion

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, nearing the end of an extended holiday stay at his ranch home, had no announced appointments today.

Johnson and wife Lady Bird spent Thanksgiving in seclusion, so far as newsmen were able to determine.

Malcolm Kilduff, acting White House press secretary, furnished little information about the First Family's holiday activities.

Kilduff said the President worked during the morning and kept in touch with the Congo situation.

"The President spent the afternoon quietly with Mrs. Johnson," he added.

At some point during the evening, it was understood, the Johnsons were joined by their two daughters, Lynda, 20, and Luci Baines, 17, for the traditional turkey dinner.

The daughters flew to Texas from Washington Thursday and, with friends, attended the Texas-Texas A&M football game in Austin before flying to the ranch. Lynda was a student at Texas until she transferred earlier this year to George Washington University in Washington.

SNEEZING IN RESPONSE TO LIGHT
Q. I have a tendency to sneeze when suddenly exposed to bright light. Is there a medical explanation for this "allergy" to light?
A. This reaction to bright light is by no means an allergy. Sneezing in response to light is a type of reflex action which is more common than might be expected. Among hospital patients questioned, better than 15 per cent of white patients had observed the reaction in themselves. In contrast, the reaction was not observed by colored persons. The attitude of persons being questioned about the photic (response to light) sneeze is of interest. Many who have never experienced the reflex reacted to questioning in a surprised way, as much as to say, "Are you crazy or something?" Conversely, one woman who was questioned said, "Why, I thought everyone did."
FLAT FEET AND HEREDITY
Q. Is the tendency toward flat feet passed along from one generation to another?
A. It seems to be. The majority of children with flat feet have the deformity as a result of generalized laxity of ligaments which normally support the arch. It is not unusual to find that one or both parents of such children also have this condition.

Co-Operation Of Hancock's Farmers Urged For Census

Hancock County farmers who have treated the agriculture census as a "nuisance" and "invasion of privacy" in the past should remember that the statistics and information help many officials and organizations concerned with farm programs.

The Census Act of the U. S. Code instructs the Census Bureau to take the agricultural census and requires all farmers and ranchers to answer census questions, Oliver Johnson, county agriculture agent, reminded.

The 1964 farm census now under way is partly a "do-it-yourself" project to save time and effort, Johnson said.

"The questionnaire forms will be collected within a one-to-three-week period during a personal visit to the farmer by a census employe called an enumerator. At that time, the farmer can get any help he may need in completing answers on the form."

County farmers received the questionnaires in the mails earlier this month.

Johnson pointed out the Census Act protects farmers by making census information confidential. Data can be used for statistical purposes only; no fact can be revealed about an individual farmer or farm.

How important is a farm census? Johnson says, "Well, just about everybody uses the information. It is of concern to the farmer because it is the basis of government programs.

"It's basic to all of us because our agriculture feeds all of us, better than ever before. And it's the foundation for about one-third of the nation's jobs."

The 1959 census indicated that the number of farms dropped by one million and the average farm increased in size by 60 acres, Johnson said.

Among those who benefit from census statistics are organizations which speak for the farmers on political and economic matters; manufacturers or retailers who provide $28 billion worth of farming equipment and supplies bought annually by farmers; processors or dealers who buy the $40 billion worth of farm products sold each year by farmers and institutions, and public officials.

Who must take part in the "nose count" in Hancock?

"Anyone who operates a farm must fill out a census questionnaire. Persons who during 1964 had any cattle, four or more hogs, 30 or more chickens, or 20 or more fruit trees, or grape vines, or who harvested any crops such as corn, hay, wheat, vegetables for commercial sale, or any nursery or greenhouse products are all required to answer census questions," Johnson pointed out.

"Too many farmers in the past have treated this as a nuisance and felt their privacy was being invaded. When the census figures come out, it is evident that farmers are under-reporting their production and income or the census takers are not making all the visits," the agriculture agent declared.

In Salvation Army Appeal

'Red Kettles' Signal Yule Season

It's "Red Kettle" time again in East Liverpool. The Salvation Army opened its annual Christmas fund appeal today, with the first appearance of its familiar blue-uniformed workers adding to the festive holiday spirit that will bring joy to the needy for Christmas.

Regardless of the snow, sleet and freezing winds that lie ahead, the Salvationists will remain at their "Red Kettle" until the last child, the last homeless man or woman, the last lonely resident on the Salvation Army Christmas list, is assured some of the good cheer and gifts that most people take for granted.

Maj. William Hathorn today announced the community leaders aiding the Salvation Army in its annual drive are Harold Sneddon, chairman, and Harold Allison, treasurer of the Salvation Army Board, assisted by the board members.

Maj. Hathorn said the "Army" is counting on all the residents of the Tri-State area to help fill the kettles so that no one will be forgotten at Christmas time.

Congo

Heart of Africa Mission of Fort Washington, Pa.

Other reports said several hundred whites of other nationalities were still missing in the northern Congo, and the Belgian paratroopers were planning other rescue missions before leaving the country this weekend.

Reliable reports said the paratroopers might drop at Bunia, on the eastern frontier, or Watsa, to the northeast, to save whites there from massacre at the hands of the rebels.

South of Stanleyville, rebels recaptured the tin mining town of Punia, taken last week by the government troops on their march toward Stanleyville.

The U.S. and Belgian embassies were stoned in Nairobi, Kenya, and the U.S., British and Belgian embassies were attacked in Prague.

There was speculation that the rebels would take the offensive again when the Belgian paratroopers are withdrawn this weekend. Premier Moise Tshombe's white mercenaries and supporting Congolese army troops did not appear to have sufficient strength to consolidate the rapid gains they have made across a vast area of the northern Congo.

In addition to 38 white hostages reported killed in Stanleyville, the rebels battered at least 21 whites to death in Paulis, 250 miles northeast of Stanleyville, before a force of 267 Belgians seized the city Thursday after a brief skirmish in which one paratrooper was killed.

Ground fire damaged four of the seven U.S. planes that carried the Belgians.

One of those killed in Paulis was the Rev. Joseph Tucker of Springfield, Mo., the third American reported killed this week. The others were medical missionary Paul Carlson of Rolling Hills, Calif., and Phyllis Rine of Cincinnati, Ohio, a Protestant mission worker. Both died in Stanleyville.

With their hands tied, Tucker and at least 16 other whites were beaten to death with clubs and bottles at a Dominican mission. Jean Degotte, honorary Belgian consul in Paulis, said the rebels in recent weeks had slaughtered about 4,000 Congolese who were not sympathetic to their cause.

At Stanleyville, rebel snipers were still holed up in the upper stories of buildings. The rebels controlled a dock area across the Congo River from the city's main business section and mercenary pilots were blasting it with rockets and machine guns.

Seventy more refugees from Stanleyville were flown back to Brussels Thursday night and another 90 today. King Baudouin and Queen Fabiola met them at the airport. Fabiola cried when she heard the story of one man whose wife had been shot at Stanleyville.

The Rev. Charles E. Davis of Boston told Thursday of Dr. Carlson's death. The two fled together when the rebels began shooting at a crowd of whites they had assembled in Stanleyville's Lumumba Square.

"Dr. Carlson and I ran together toward the nearest buildings," said Davis. "We made our way behind one and headed toward a porch. People ahead of us scrambled up a wall onto the porch and broke open a door to get in.

"Dr. Carlson helped push me up onto the wall. I turned to help him up and he was just starting to come over when a simba (a rebel soldier) came up behind him and emptied a rifle into his back and head."

Woman Injured As Car Hits Span

A 66-year-old area woman was injured late Thursday afternoon when the car in which she was a passenger struck a bridge along Route 170 north of Calcutta.

Mrs. Mary Jolly of McCoy Ave. was in "fair" condition today at City Hospital with a laceration of the left cheek and bruises of the left shoulder and right arm.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said she was a passenger in a car driven by her daughter, Miss June Jolly, 44, of McCoy Ave.

Officers said Miss Jolly was headed south about 5:50 p.m. when another vehicle overtook and passed her 1959 sedan. Believing the other car was about to hit the front of her car as it pulled back in the south lane, she swerved to the right and the car struck the bridge, the patrol reported.

There was extensive damage to her auto, officers said.

Co-Operation Of Hancock's Farmers Urged For Census

Hancock County farmers who have treated the agriculture census as a "nuisance" and "invasion of privacy" in the past should remember that the statistics and information help many officials and organizations concerned with farm programs.

The Census Act of the U. S. Code instructs the Census Bureau to take the agricultural census and requires all farmers and ranchers to answer census questions, Oliver Johnson, county agriculture agent, reminded.

The 1964 farm census now under way is partly a "do-it-yourself" project to save time and effort, Johnson said.

"The questionnaire forms will be collected within a one-to-three-week period during a personal visit to the farmer by a census employe called an enumerator. At that time, the farmer can get any help he may need in completing answers on the form."

County farmers received the questionnaires in the mails earlier this month.

Johnson pointed out the Census Act protects farmers by making census information confidential. Data can be used for statistical purposes only; no fact can be revealed about an individual farmer or farm.

How important is a farm census? Johnson says, "Well, just about everybody uses the information. It is of concern to the farmer because it is the basis of government programs.

"It's basic to all of us because our agriculture feeds all of us, better than ever before. And it's the foundation for about one-third of the nation's jobs."

The 1959 census indicated that the number of farms dropped by one million and the average farm increased in size by 60 acres, Johnson said.

Among those who benefit from census statistics are organizations which speak for the farmers on political and economic matters; manufacturers or retailers who provide $28 billion worth of farming equipment and supplies bought annually by farmers; processors or dealers who buy the $40 billion worth of farm products sold each year by farmers and institutions, and public officials.

Who must take part in the "nose count" in Hancock?

"Anyone who operates a farm must fill out a census questionnaire. Persons who during 1964 had any cattle, four or more hogs, 30 or more chickens, or 20 or more fruit trees, or grape vines, or who harvested any crops such as corn, hay, wheat, vegetables for commercial sale, or any nursery or greenhouse products are all required to answer census questions," Johnson pointed out.

"Too many farmers in the past have treated this as a nuisance and felt their privacy was being invaded. When the census figures come out, it is evident that farmers are under-reporting their production and income or the census takers are not making all the visits," the agriculture agent declared.

In Salvation Army Appeal

'Red Kettles' Signal Yule Season

It's "Red Kettle" time again in East Liverpool. The Salvation Army opened its annual Christmas fund appeal today, with the first appearance of its familiar blue-uniformed workers adding to the festive holiday spirit that will bring joy to the needy for Christmas.

Regardless of the snow, sleet and freezing winds that lie ahead, the Salvationists will remain at their "Red Kettle" until the last child, the last homeless man or woman, the last lonely resident on the Salvation Army Christmas list, is assured some of the good cheer and gifts that most people take for granted.

Maj. William Hathorn today announced the community leaders aiding the Salvation Army in its annual drive are Harold Sneddon, chairman, and Harold Allison, treasurer of the Salvation Army Board, assisted by the board members.

Maj. Hathorn said the "Army" is counting on all the residents of the Tri-State area to help fill the kettles so that no one will be forgotten at Christmas time.

Congo

Other reports said several hundred whites of other nationalities were still missing in the northern Congo, and the Belgian paratroopers were planning other rescue missions before leaving the country this weekend.

Reliable reports said the paratroopers might drop at Bunia, on the eastern frontier, or Watsa, to the northeast, to save whites there from massacre at the hands of the rebels.

South of Stanleyville, rebels recaptured the tin mining town of Punia, taken last week by the government troops on their march toward Stanleyville.

The U.S. and Belgian embassies were stoned in Nairobi, Kenya, and the U.S., British and Belgian embassies were attacked in Prague.

There was speculation that the rebels would take the offensive again when the Belgian paratroopers are withdrawn this weekend. Premier Moise Tshombe's white mercenaries and supporting Congolese army troops did not appear to have sufficient strength to consolidate the rapid gains they have made across a vast area of the northern Congo.

In addition to 38 white hostages reported killed in Stanleyville, the rebels battered at least 21 whites to death in Paulis, 250 miles northeast of Stanleyville, before a force of 267 Belgians seized the city Thursday after a brief skirmish in which one paratrooper was killed.

Ground fire damaged four of the seven U.S. planes that carried the Belgians.

One of those killed in Paulis was the Rev. Joseph Tucker of Springfield, Mo., the third American reported killed this week. The others were medical missionary Paul Carlson of Rolling Hills, Calif., and Phyllis Rine of Cincinnati, Ohio, a Protestant mission worker. Both died in Stanleyville.

With their hands tied, Tucker and at least 16 other whites were beaten to death with clubs and bottles at a Dominican mission. Jean Degotte, honorary Belgian consul in Paulis, said the rebels in recent weeks had slaughtered about 4,000 Congolese who were not sympathetic to their cause.

At Stanleyville, rebel snipers were still holed up in the upper stories of buildings. The rebels controlled a dock area across the Congo River from the city's main business section and mercenary pilots were blasting it with rockets and machine guns.

Seventy more refugees from Stanleyville were flown back to Brussels Thursday night and another 90 today. King Baudouin and Queen Fabiola met them at the airport. Fabiola cried when she heard the story of one man whose wife had been shot at Stanleyville.

The Rev. Charles E. Davis of Boston told Thursday of Dr. Carlson's death. The two fled together when the rebels began shooting at a crowd of whites they had assembled in Stanleyville's Lumumba Square.

"Dr. Carlson and I ran together toward the nearest buildings," said Davis. "We made our way behind one and headed toward a porch. People ahead of us scrambled up a wall onto the porch and broke open a door to get in.

"Dr. Carlson helped push me up onto the wall. I turned to help him up and he was just starting to come over when a simba (a rebel soldier) came up behind him and emptied a rifle into his back and head."

Woman Injured As Car Hits Span

A 66-year-old area woman was injured late Thursday afternoon when the car in which she was a passenger struck a bridge along Route 170 north of Calcutta.

Mrs. Mary Jolly of McCoy Ave. was in "fair" condition today at City Hospital with a laceration of the left cheek and bruises of the left shoulder and right arm.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said she was a passenger in a car driven by her daughter, Miss June Jolly, 44, of McCoy Ave.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband told me last night that from now on he flatly refuses to look at any more home movies. He said the next time this thing is visited on him he is walking out of the house—no matter whose it is. Frankly, after last night I can't blame him.

We were invited to what we thought was a dinner party. When we arrived, the host was serving cocktails. Promptly at 7:30 p.m. (no food in sight—not even a cracker) the host hauled out the projection equipment. Twenty of us were literally trapped in the basement for three solid hours looking at home movies.

The movies were of their kids, their trips, parades and what have you. It went back to 1936 and even took in his career in the Army. The equipment went on the bum several times and the film tore. Some of the men got dead drunk, in self defense. I was so hungry my head was breaking. My husband was practically frothing at the mouth.

Dear Eyeballs: Some home movies are great entertainment—for those who are interested. A host and hostess who plan such an evening should inform the guests in advance. Guests who are NOT forewarned should use their heads and sit in the back of the room—near the door.

If you leave (quietly) phone the hostess the next day and say, "We don't care for home movies." I doubt that you'll be invited for a second showing.

Too Young

Dear Ann: I haven't mentioned this to my folks yet because they both have pretty hot tempers and I don't know how they'll take it.

I'm a boy, 18, who has been going with a girl who is 16. This girl has been nagging me to get married but I'm too young to take on the responsibilities of marriage and I have told her so a dozen times.

Last night we had another big argument over this and I was doing just fine until her father and brother got into the act. They said I no longer have a choice, on account of her condition (if you know what I mean).

Will you please tell me the score? — RATHER CONCERNED.

Dear Rather: I know PRECISELY what you mean. And this is a fine time to be asking the score.

No one can force you to marry the girl if you do not want to. In fact I am opposed to marriages under such conditions unless both parties want very much to be married.

You are obliged to pay the girl's medical bills and support the child if she decides she wants to keep the child. You are, of course, financially responsible for the child until he is of legal age.

If your father will not (or cannot) help you meet this obligation you may have to quit school and go to work. This is a stunning price to pay for foolishness. (Are you listening, students?)

Confidentially

TO IS HE OR ISN'T HE? And how would I know? Appearances can be decieving. Some virile-looking men (the real muscle - building types) are and some aesthetic (and even dainty) males are not.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Teen-Ager Sends An SOS

"I was doing fine; you gave me encouragement when I needed it. So, where did I get a job? In a bakery! Now I weigh 174 pounds . . and I'm miserable."

Ida Jean Kain

This is the essence of a letter from a young lady, age 16, who at the beginning of last year weighed in at 203 pounds. She buckled down and lost 24 pounds, bringing her weight to 179. Starting to slip, she asked for help. By picturing the way she wanted to become, our model slimmed down another 10 pounds and held her weight at 169. She's a tall girl, 5' 11".

NOW COMES this SOS. "I've looked seriously in the mirror. I'm supposed to be large boned, but I think I'm so solid I look big-boned. Do you think it would be possible for me to be thin and willowy? The family all know I'd love to lose, but with them it's 'HA, HA, you'll neved do it!' Please . . . help me do it!"

Stop playing their game. Start taking charge of your life. You are ruefully trying to substitute banter for a plan of action. You have to lick this weight problem in your mind. Deep within your being you must have a core of certainty about what you want to do.

Your body frame can be responsible for a weight variation up to 15 pounds. If your glove size is between six and seven, your frame is medium. The wrist is a good gauge of one's frame, for there it is mostly bone. If the bones of your wrist feel thick and heavy, and you have large hands, glove size above 7, you have a heavy frame. You are a tall, beautiful girl and you could be shapely weight at 148 pounds and wear a size 16-tall. You ask if you could wear size 14-tall, dresses and stretch slacks? Yes, if you can slim your waist to 27 inches and your hips to 38.

WITH YOUR structure, you should not try to be ultra thin. Aim to be shapely weight and willowy. Paint that picture on your mind, and know that you can achieve it. By doing this you pit imagination against willpower. Imaging is a powerful force. The sure way to get your will working for you is to make advance decisions about how you wish to react in certain situations. Know that by taking forethought you bid your mind to subsequently respond. This prior-decision will come to your aid when needed most.

The prime - time to make an advance decision is before falling asleep at night, and again on awakening. See yourself taking "slimnastics," eating a good breakfast, forming excellent food habits. Take charge of your life and you can do with it what you will. Believe this!

Send stamped, self - addressed, long envelope for Teen-Age Challenge and Isometric Exercises. Address request to Ida Jean Kain, care of The Review. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband told me last night that from now on he flatly refuses to look at any more home movies. He said the next time this thing is visited on him he is walking out of the house—no matter whose it is. Frankly, after last night I can't blame him.

We were invited to what we thought was a dinner party. When we arrived, the host was serving cocktails. Promptly at 7:30 p.m. (no food in sight—not even a cracker) the host hauled out the projection equipment. Twenty of us were literally trapped in the basement for three solid hours looking at home movies.

The movies were of their kids, their trips, parades and what have you. It went back to 1936 and even took in his career in the Army. The equipment went on the bum several times and the film tore. Some of the men got dead drunk, in self defense. I was so hungry my head was breaking. My husband was practically frothing at the mouth.

Dear Eyeballs: Some home movies are great entertainment—for those who are interested. A host and hostess who plan such an evening should inform the guests in advance. Guests who are NOT forewarned should use their heads and sit in the back of the room—near the door.

If you leave (quietly) phone the hostess the next day and say, "We don't care for home movies." I doubt that you'll be invited for a second showing.

Too Young

Dear Ann: I haven't mentioned this to my folks yet because they both have pretty hot tempers and I don't know how they'll take it.

Extra Police Probe Slaying Of Man, Wife

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police, without "significant information," have called in nine extra detectives to help with the investigation of the slaying of a Cincinnati couple, Detective Chief Henry Sandman said.

A relative said Coby had studied two years in a Franciscan Friary and was a chaplain's assistant in the Army. Coby was employed the last 2½ years as an orderly at Veterans Administration Hospital here.

A relative said Coby, "was a quiet sort of chap" and the thought of guns or suicide would be the last thing to enter his mind. "He was a really sincere boy all his life," the relative added, and described him as happily married.

Police said the couple was slain with a .38 caliber revolver, but the weapon had not been found, nor had a motive been uncovered.

An autopsy was performed Thursday, but police did not release the findings. A police source, however, said tests showed neither of the victims had fired a gun recently. The gun that killed them was fired from several feet away, the source said. Two bullets were recovered from each body, police said.

There were no signs of a struggle in the couple's home and nothing of value was reported missing, officers said.

The Cobys, married 11 years, had one son, Tommy, 8.

Chevy Chase, Md., traditionally has been watched over by one combination policeman-night watchman. The first officer also doubled as lamplighter.

NEW CITY APPOINTEES. These two men named by Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey will report for duty Tuesday as new members of the fire and police departments. James W. Buckley, 28, left, will become a police patrolman, and Gerald L. Barcus, 23, will become a member of the fire department. Buckley, now employed at City Hospital, resides at 945 Lisbon St. Barcus, an employe of the Martin Funeral Home, resides at 315 Center St. The director chose them from certified lists furnished by the Civil Service Commission.

In Jakarta For Talks

Paris, London Talks Slated For U.S. Aide

WASHINGTON (AP) — Undersecretary of State George W. Ball flies to Paris tonight for talks there and in London with European leaders and U.S. officials on economic and military problems confronting the Atlantic Allies.

Key topics for Ball's conferences are expected to be the financial policies of British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and the U.S. plan for a multilateral nuclear force, jointly owned and manned by the various NATO countries.

The undersecretary's trip comes in the wake of a severe British financial crisis revolving about Wilson's attempts to bolster the pound sterling and improve his nation's international payments standing.

And it comes less than one week after Wilson sharply criticized the proposed joint nuclear weapons force in a speech to the House of Commons on Monday.

Despite Wilson's stand, and the continuing opposition to the MLF project by French President Charles de Gaulle, the United States and West Germany — its two chief backers — agreed Thursday that the NATO nuclear fleet can be established.

In a joint communique following talks, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder expressed hope that agreement on the multilateral force "will be reached soon and that as many member nations of the alliance as possible would participate."

Rusk and Schroeder were reported to feel that Wilson's speech may have been delivered partially to placate the left wing of his Labor party and partly to establish a bargaining position when he comes here Dec. 7-8 for talks with U.S. officials including President Johnson.

But a new blow to the MLF plan came from Brussels where parliamentary sources reported today that Belgium had decided to take no part in the nuclear force.

Ball expects to be in London on Sunday and Monday and will meet with British Foreign Secretary Patrick Gordon Walker and probably with Wilson.

Reading Instruction Seen Still Pretty Bad

CLEVELAND (AP) — "The way we teach children to read in this country still is pretty bad, but it's getting better," a reading expert said today.

Dr. Ruth Strickland, research professor of education at Indiana University, took a long, hard look at reading instruction during a recent tour of the United States and Europe.

"Some of the new ideas we see are pretty far out," she said in an interview during the annual convention of the National Council of Teachers of English. "On the other hand, we're getting some solid new information, too.

"For instance, we've got to stop saying that English is so non-phonetic (i.e., that words aren't spelled the way they are sounded). Out at Stanford, Paul Hannah has done some marvellous work with computers which shows that English words are really quite phonetic.

"Our trouble is basically with words we have borrowed from other languages — bouquet and knight, for instance—but even with these borrowed words there is a pattern we can see."

Among the things she has seen which encourage her are a linguistic approach to reading tried in Philadelphia, and a language approach which started in San Diego and has spread to nearby areas.

In the linguistic approach, Professor Strickland said, children are first taught to recognize the letters of the alphabet. Then they are taught the most common pattern of English spelling, the consonant - vowel-consonant. Examples would be 'pin,' 'cut,' and 'hat.'

The children are taught to sound out the words, not the individual letters. Next they learn consonant substitution — changing 'pin' to 'tin,' 'cut' to 'rut,' and 'hat' to 'bat.'

Further lessons show how the final letter 'e' changes the sound of the initial vowel—as in 'cut' and 'cute,' 'hat' and 'hate,' 'pin' and 'pine.'

In the language approach, emphasis is on teaching the children to read and write stories which they make up themselves in their own words—not the artificial, constantly-repeated words found in so many beginning readers.

"They may be getting just a little bit better, but some brand new thinking should be done on them," she said.

Extra Police Probe Slaying Of Man, Wife

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police, without "significant information," have called in nine extra detectives to help with the investigation of the slaying of a Cincinnati couple, Detective Chief Henry Sandman said.

A relative said Coby had studied two years in a Franciscan Friary and was a chaplain's assistant in the Army. Coby was employed the last 2½ years as an orderly at Veterans Administration Hospital here.

A relative said Coby, "was a quiet sort of chap" and the thought of guns or suicide would be the last thing to enter his mind. "He was a really sincere boy all his life," the relative added, and described him as happily married.

Police said the couple was slain with a .38 caliber revolver, but the weapon had not been found, nor had a motive been uncovered.

An autopsy was performed Thursday, but police did not release the findings. A police source, however, said tests showed neither of the victims had fired a gun recently. The gun that killed them was fired from several feet away, the source said. Two bullets were recovered from each body, police said.

There were no signs of a struggle in the couple's home and nothing of value was reported missing, officers said.

The Cobys, married 11 years, had one son, Tommy, 8.

Chevy Chase, Md., traditionally has been watched over by one combination policeman-night watchman. The first officer also doubled as lamplighter.

NEW CITY APPOINTEES. These two men named by Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey will report for duty Tuesday as new members of the fire and police departments. James W. Buckley, 28, left, will become a police patrolman, and Gerald L. Barcus, 23, will become a member of the fire department. Buckley, now employed at City Hospital, resides at 945 Lisbon St. Barcus, an employe of the Martin Funeral Home, resides at 315 Center St. The director chose them from certified lists furnished by the Civil Service Commission.

In Jakarta For Talks

Paris, London Talks Slated For U.S. Aide

WASHINGTON (AP) — Undersecretary of State George W. Ball flies to Paris tonight for talks there and in London with European leaders and U.S. officials on economic and military problems confronting the Atlantic Allies.

Key topics for Ball's conferences are expected to be the financial policies of British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and the U.S. plan for a multilateral nuclear force, jointly owned and manned by the various NATO countries.

The undersecretary's trip comes in the wake of a severe British financial crisis revolving about Wilson's attempts to bolster the pound sterling and improve his nation's international payments standing.

And it comes less than one week after Wilson sharply criticized the proposed joint nuclear weapons force in a speech to the House of Commons on Monday.

Despite Wilson's stand, and the continuing opposition to the MLF project by French President Charles de Gaulle, the United States and West Germany — its two chief backers — agreed Thursday that the NATO nuclear fleet can be established.

In a joint communique following talks, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder expressed hope that agreement on the multilateral force "will be reached soon and that as many member nations of the alliance as possible would participate."

Rusk and Schroeder were reported to feel that Wilson's speech may have been delivered partially to placate the left wing of his Labor party and partly to establish a bargaining position when he comes here Dec. 7-8 for talks with U.S. officials including President Johnson.

But a new blow to the MLF plan came from Brussels where parliamentary sources reported today that Belgium had decided to take no part in the nuclear force.

Ball expects to be in London on Sunday and Monday and will meet with British Foreign Secretary Patrick Gordon Walker and probably with Wilson.

Reading Instruction Seen Still Pretty Bad

CLEVELAND (AP) — "The way we teach children to read in this country still is pretty bad, but it's getting better," a reading expert said today.

Dr. Ruth Strickland, research professor of education at Indiana University, took a long, hard look at reading instruction during a recent tour of the United States and Europe.

"Some of the new ideas we see are pretty far out," she said in an interview during the annual convention of the National Council of Teachers of English. "On the other hand, we're getting some solid new information, too.

"For instance, we've got to stop saying that English is so non-phonetic (i.e., that words aren't spelled the way they are sounded). Out at Stanford, Paul Hannah has done some marvellous work with computers which shows that English words are really quite phonetic.

"Our trouble is basically with words we have borrowed from other languages — bouquet and knight, for instance—but even with these borrowed words there is a pattern we can see."

Among the things she has seen which encourage her are a linguistic approach to reading tried in Philadelphia, and a language approach which started in San Diego and has spread to nearby areas.

In the linguistic approach, Professor Strickland said, children are first taught to recognize the letters of the alphabet. Then they are taught the most common pattern of English spelling, the consonant - vowel-consonant. Examples would be 'pin,' 'cut,' and 'hat.'

The children are taught to sound out the words, not the individual letters. Next they learn consonant substitution — changing 'pin' to 'tin,' 'cut' to 'rut,' and 'hat' to 'bat.'

Further lessons show how the final letter 'e' changes the sound of the initial vowel—as in 'cut' and 'cute,' 'hat' and 'hate,' 'pin' and 'pine.'

In the language approach, emphasis is on teaching the children to read and write stories which they make up themselves in their own words—not the artificial, constantly-repeated words found in so many beginning readers.

"They may be getting just a little bit better, but some brand new thinking should be done on them," she said.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: I have a hint for bird lovers who have bird baths.

To clean off the green fungus that grows in the bottom and on the sides of the bath, pour out any excess water, then wet paper towels and stick them to the sides and bottom of the bath.

Pour some household bleach on the paper and let stand for 15 or 20 minutes. Remove the paper and wash the bath.

This treatment sometimes kills the fungus for as long as six weeks.

MRS. CHARLES MUDD.

We used to clean ours by filling it with clean water, pouring in one-half cup of bleach, scrubbing with a brush, letting stand awhile, then pouring out the water. (Be sure to cover with newspapers so a bird won't try to drink.)

Let this air for a few hours so the bleach will evaporate before refilling.

We also cleaned our small fish pond the same way. Removed all the algae and stains.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: For big gals like me with a favorite old rubber girdle that tears at the wrong time (don't laugh) — it is very easily mended, and will be as good as ever, if you mend it on the outside with tire patch. Just follow the directions.

I have been doing this for years — about 20 I'd say. Sometimes I have three or four patches before the girdle gives out entirely.

It would be nice if the manufacturers of tire patches would bring out white and pink patches.

My husband gets hysterical when he sees my orange, red and black patches — but at $10 a girdle, that 59-cent can of patch is practical, regardless of its color.

M. V.

DEAR HELOISE: I have kept house for 50-odd years and have always buttered and floured my cake pans.

Recently, a new neighbor taught me to cream half-flour and half butter together, then spread it on the cake pans, casseroles, etc. The cakes, baked dishes, and all, come out clean and without any sticking.

I now keep a small jar of this mixture in my refrigerator to use when I bake and it works like a charm.

HILDA MacDONALD.

DEAR HELOISE: When I iron my husband's shorts, I fold from the back down the center, then place a folded undershirt INSIDE before folding the shorts again.

This gives him a set of underclothes that is convenient when he showers or packs for traveling.

Easy storing in the bureau, too.

-:-

Tell your husband how lucky he is . . . shorts don't get ironed at our house! But the idea of folding the undershirt inside the shorts is a neat one.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Here is a simple hint for people who use drip coffee and paper filters:

When you have used some of your coffee and you have the space, put some filters in the can (or canister) in top of the coffee.

This way, you don't have to search for the filters in the cupboard or drawer . . . especially when you have three boys around who are always calling for ma and making you forget where everything is!

DEAR HELOISE: We have found that throw rugs with a rubber backing make very nice floor coverings in our car.

They are less expensive than the regular mats, look nicer, and can be tossed into the wash and dried with little effort.

In the winter they also help our feet.

PATTI SNYDER.

Ohio Soldier Held In Georgia Murder

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — A murder charge confronts a young soldier from Hudson, Ohio, who police quoted as saying he grabbed a shotgun before "things went hazy"—and an escort of his wife was slain.

Spec. 5 Franklin L. Starr, 23, is held in the death of 19-year-old PFC Gary Williams James of Seattle. Both are stationed at Ft. Benning here.

Police said James had been out with Starr's wife, 20, and that they returned to the Starr apartment at 1 a.m. Thursday. They charged that the husband got his 12-gauge shotgun and felled James with three shotgun blasts.

Juvenile Center Boys On Job After Walkout

Tiger Coach Blasts Choices . . .

Leveling a verbal blast at the Columbiana County Coaches Association, Wellsville High's Ken Woods branded as "unfair and unjustified" some of the selections of the 1964 All-County football team picked Monday night at Columbiana.

"I'm very dissatisfied with the choices," the Wellsville coach declared. "The whole thing was completely unfair."

"I feel Chris Thornton of Wellsville should definitely have made the first team," Woods said of his star sophomore fullback who scored 100 points for a new scoring record and gained more than 1,000 yards rushing, although not playing in every game.

Thornton, who has one season of eligibility remaining, was given a spot in the backfield of the second team. No other Wellsville players were honored.

Woods explained that because of a previous committment, he arrived late at the coaches' meeting, but said he had been promised earlier that the balloting would not commence until he arrived.

"They didn't call me until late Monday afternoon to tell me of the meeting and I had a previous commitment for a basketball function. I said I would be late and was told the meeting would be held up until I got there," Woods said.

"But they never even gave me an opportunity to talk about my players," Woods charged. "They already had selected the first team backfield when I arrived. Chris Thornton was nominated for first team backfield, but received only two votes from the 11 coaches present."

Woods also attacked the association for choosing another end ahead of Wellsville's terminal, Pat Welch.

"The end who was named caught six passes for 104 yards, but Welch did better than that in one game," Woods said. He pointed out the game when Welch hauled in 16 passes for 200 yards and a school record and also played a bang-up defensive game during the year.

Welch, Woods went on, had been a second team all-county choice last year, but did not repeat.

"I think it is unfair, and I don't see how they could justify the choices," Woods asserted.

He also listed Wellsville tackle Bill Pease, who played both ways but did not make either first or second team.

Woods also declared the selection meeting was "poorly organized." "The newspapers in the county were to have been invited, but none were," he said.

At past meetings to select the all-county team, sports writers and sportscasters have been invited to view the proceedings, although only the coaches are eligible to ballot.

Woods and Howard Weyers, formerly of East Palestine, reorganized the coaches' association more than five years ago.

Woods was quite pleased to learn of Thornton being named to a first team spot on the All-District defensive unit which was announced Thursday.

Rule Sets Coaches Down . . .

BASKETBALL is ready to bounce back into the picture on the local scene and fans might be wondering what has been done to the rules this year.

There aren't many drastic changes, but one major revision probably will be noticed by the basketball enthusiast.

The rules committee has directed officials to keep the coaches on the bench.

Rulemakers are demanding that officials make the rule stick.

There have been some coaches who jump up and down on the sidelines, among other things, but the new rule which covers the conduct of coaches, substitutes and team attendants, has been made much stronger.

Bench personnel are prohibited from engaging in any action which would indicate an objection to an official's decision.

The rule also requires that a coach remain seated on the bench, except during certain situations which are clearly outlined in the rule.

The Ohio High School Athletic Association has announced that it will be checking on officials this year and strong disciplinary action is scheduled for those who fail to enforce rules.

Await Orange Bowl Battle; Tulsa Victor

They unveiled a crucial play — the same one — in closing out their regular football season schedules with victories Thursday, Alabama trimming Auburn 21-14 and Texas whipping Texas A&M 26-7.

Following Alabama's 10th victory without a defeat, the Crimson Tide formally accepted an Orange Bowl bid everyone knew they already had received. Texas, 9-1, had accepted an invitation nearly two weeks ago.

In using the surprise play, second-ranked Alabama had help from Auburn's Mike Alford while Texas, No. 5 in the nation, received aid from Tom Murrah of Texas A&M. Both centers, Alford and Murrah, started the whole thing.

On fourth - down-and-punt situations, Alford and Murrah snapped the ball back over the punters' heads. In Alabama's case, it resulted in the first touchdown of the game. For Texas, the errant play brought a tie-breaking safety that opened the way for a 19-point second half.

Auburn's Jim Kilgore was set to punt in the first quarter when the ball sailed over his head. He chased it back into the end zone and fell on it, but the ball squirted away and Steve Bowman dropped on it for a touchdown.

In the third quarter of the traditional Texas battle, A&M's Phil Scoggin was back to punt when the snapback got by him. He recovered the ball but couldn't get out of the end zone.

There was only a handful of other Thanksgiving Day games. Tulsa defeated Wichita 21-7, Virginia Tech swamped Virginia Military 35-13, William and Mary walloped Richmond 33-13 and an East All-Star team defeated the West 19-12 in the Gem Bowl at Erie, Pa.

The college season all but fades completely Saturday with two of the season's biggest game on the schedule. Army and Navy meet in their traditional rivalry while Notre Dame tries to wrap up the national championship by making Southern California its 10th consecutive victim.

Also on tap are Miami-Florida, Georgia Tech-Georgia, Tennessee-Vanderbilt, Duke-Tulane, Oklahoma-Oklahoma State, Rice-Baylor, Texas Christian-Southern Methodist and Arizona State-Arizona.

Wilt Meshes 63 But 76ers Win; Hawks Top Celts

The Philadelphia 76ers may have come up with a new defense against Wilt Chamberlain — they pretend he isn't there.

It was the 76ers' third straight victory and the Warriors' sixth consecutive setback.

In Thursday's only other game, the Bob Pettit-less St. Louis Hawks overcame a 24-minute cold spell and bull-dozed the Boston Celtics 110-98 with a 40-point final period.

Bills Rally To Defeat San Diego By 27 To 24

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Boston Patriots, trailing Buffalo's Bills by 1½ games in the American Football League's Eastern Division race, go into Sunday's game at Houston with the growing suspicion that these Bills are for real.

Buffalo, seemingly beaten with less than seven minutes to play in Thursday's game at San Diego, rallied for 13 points producing an important 27-24 victory. The Bills were down 24-14 when they started their comeback — moments after losing the ball on downs on the San Diego one.

Linebacker Mike Stratton, who played a vital role in the Bills' rally, burst into the San Diego end zone and spilled quarterback John Hadl on the first play after the Chargers had halted Buffalo's march. The safety made it 24-16.

Charley Warner than returned Hadl's free kick 40 yards to the San Diego 18 and five plays later Buffalo quarterback Daryle Lamonica went in for the touchdown bringing the Bills within two points.

Buffalo's attempted two-point conversion failed but the Bills got a second chance when the Chargers were penalized for holding. This time, Lamonica went in for the two-pointer, tying the score.

Stratton then picked off a Hadl pass — the Bills' fifth interception of the day — on the Buffalo 44. Four carries by Cookie Gilchrist helped move the ball into field-goal range and rookie kicker Pete Gogolak booted the 33-yard field goal that won it for the Bills.

Sunday's AFL schedule has Boston at Houston, Kansas City at New York and Oakland at Denver.

Michigan State, Northwestern and Purdue have never won a Big Ten title in track.

AFL Attacks Report About 'Sneak Draft'

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Football League has branded as erroneous a newspaper report that the 5-year-old league held a "sneak draft" two weeks ago to get a jump on the senior National League in the brewing battle for the top college football players in the country.

The story, which appeared in Friday's New York Daily News — one day before the rival leagues conduct their separate drafts at different sites in New York — was immediately denied by league and club officials.

Milt Woodard, the AFL's assistant commissioner, flatly stated the story was "erroneous" while pointing out that "our constitution and by-laws don't allow this. We have set a date for the draft and if we sign anybody before that we would have to void this type of agreement. The story is not true."

The Daily News story, written by Norm Miller, said "there are strong indications that the American Football League clubs already have held another sneak draft in an effort to beat the NFL to the best available college players."

Miller's story said the premature draft was "believed to have been conducted by phone nearly two weeks ago. At least one leading collegian already has been signed by an AFL team."

The AFL held a premature draft three years ago, in violation of their agreement with the colleges to hold off until the final full Saturday of the collegiate schedule. Commissioner Joe Foss, who was not aware of the move instituted by club owners, ordered it voided.

Bears Nip Lions On Leclerc's FG

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

That new dish the National Football League dumped on the Detroit Lions' Thanksgiving table was no turkey.

The Lions, who had spent their last 13 Thanksgiving afternoons entertaining the Green Bay Packers, ordered Bear Thursday and went hungry. Chicago's dethroned NFL champions won the annual holiday game 27-24 on Roger Leclerc's 17-yard field goal with less than two minutes to play.

The loss knocked Detroit out of second place in the Western Conference. Baltimore, which already has clinched the Western title, seeks its 11th straight victory Sunday at San Francisco and Cleveland, leading the Eastern Conference by 1½ games, plays host to Philadelphia.

Green Bay is at Dallas, St. Louis at Pittsburgh, Los Angeles at Minnesota and New York at Washington in Sunday's other games.

The Bears-Lions meeting was their first on Thanksgiving Day since 1949. Detroit and Green Bay had filled the holiday bill after 1950 — when the New York Yankees visited the Motor City — and the Lions held a 9-3-1 series edge over the Packers. Green Bay, however, pulled out this year and a rotating schedule, led off by the Bears, was set up.

Rudy Bukich, Chicago's rifle-armed journeyman quarterback, gave the Bears a 21-17 halftime bulge Sunday with 12-for-13 pitching and three touchdown flips. After the Lions stiffened in the second half and pulled even on Tom Watkins' third-period touchdown run, Benny McRae set up the winning points by intercepting Detroit's Milt Plum in the closing minutes.

The Bears-Lions meeting was their first on Thanksgiving Day since 1949. Detroit and Green Bay had filled the holiday bill after 1950 — when the New York Yankees visited the Motor City — and the Lions held a 9-3-1 series edge over the Packers. Green Bay, however, pulled out this year and a rotating schedule, led off by the Bears, was set up.

Rudy Bukich, Chicago's rifle-armed journeyman quarterback, gave the Bears a 21-17 halftime bulge Sunday with 12-for-13 pitching and three touchdown flips. After the Lions stiffened in the second half and pulled even on Tom Watkins' third-period touchdown run, Benny McRae set up the winning points by intercepting Detroit's Milt Plum in the closing minutes.

Browns, Cards Favored Over Eagles, Steelers

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cleveland can wrap up the Eastern Conference title in the National Football League Sunday but don't count on it. Both the Browns and runnerup St. Louis Cardinals figure to win their games and the race will continue at least until their Dec. 6 meeting at St. Louis.

Buffalo and San Diego, the two division leaders in the American Football League, have Sunday off because they played Thanksgiving Day in San Diego. They appear headed toward a title game Dec. 26 at Buffalo unless the Boston Pats catch the Bills.

When both Detroit and San Diego went down in the holiday games, the record dropped to 72-42-7 for the season (45-28-5 in the NFL, 27-14-2 in the AFL). Only nine games Sunday so let's take another shot:

Cleveland 31, Philadelphia 21-Browns still driving hard toward first conference championship since 1957. Jim Brown always has big day against Eagles but Frank Ryan will find Eagles pass defense tougher than 28-20 Sept. 27 victory.

St. Louis 24, Pittsburgh 21-Cards must win to stay alive, but have been in and outers lately. Steelers broke five-game losing streak last week with emphatic 44-17 win over Giants with help of New York fumbles.

Washington 24, New York 17-Redskins get even for 13-10 defeat in September when Charley Taylor's fumble lost game. Sonny Jurgensen sharp and Giant deep defense hurting.

Green Bay 21, Dallas 17-Packers' running game meets match in Cowboys' rushing defense but Bart Starr's arm should swing the balance. Green Bay beat Dallas in Aug. 25 exhibition 35-3.

Minnesota 24, Los Angeles 21-Vikings and Rams still have a chance at second place and runnerup bowl. Both tough on rushing defense but vulnerable to pass.

Baltimore 28, San Francisco 17-This isn't as easy as it looks. Colts just clinched last week and pressure is off.

AFL

Boston 27, Houston 21-Pats' blitz will bother George Blanda. Oilers' leaky defense too much handicap. Pats must win to stay close to Buffalo. Houston on eight-game losing binge.

Oakland 28, Denver 14-It may not be as easy as the 40-7 game Oct. 25 but Raiders are clicking under Cotton Davidson and Broncs have lost five of six.

Kansas City 24, New York 21-Chiefs still have long shot chance of catching San Diego.

Chester Beats Wellsville In 'Turkey Bowl,' 20-0

Coach Al Clutter's Chester Mice rolled to a 20-0 victory over the host Wellsville Little Tigers in the annual "Turkey Bowl" game of the Tri-State Midget Football League Thursday.

A crowd of 300 at Nicholson Stadium in Wellsville saw the Hancock Countians tally twice in the third quarter on three long runs, and once in the final period on a short plunge.

The defeat was the first of the season for Coach Butch Hancock's Wellsville eleven, who had gone unbeaten in the regular campaign.

Quarterback Vic Reed of Chester staked his team to a 6-0 lead in the third quarter when he scored on a 45 yard run. A short time later, Karl Sayre scooted 60 yards on a punt return for another touchdown.

Late in the final quarter, Pat Clutter, halfback, plunged over from five yards out and fullback Alan Forsythe ran over the conversion to settle the scoring at 20-0.

Lehmans was the big ground gainer for Wellsville. In halftime ceremonies, the winner and runner-up of the league were presented trophies by John Eckstein. At the conclusion, the gold "Turkey Bowl" was presented Coach Clutter by John Andrason, commissioner of the local midget league.

Navy Touchdown Choice To Defeat Army Saturday

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Navy is a one touchdown favorite to defeat an Army team still living a nightmare in the 65th service football game Saturday also billed as the third war of the "S" men — senior quarterbacks Roger Staubach and Rollie Stichweh.

Shorn of bowl possibilities, national ranking or even a club with a winning record, the contest more than ever is the beginning and end of the season for the participants.

Although the President will not be in the crowd of 100,000 at John F. Kennedy Stadium, Luci Baines Johnson will represent the First Family.

A healthy Staubach is the chief reason the momentum-riding Middies are the choice to achieve an unprecedented sixth straight victory and even the colorful series Army currently leads 30-29-5. Two years ago Jolly Roger ran and passed for four touchdowns against the exasperated Soldiers.

The Cadets can't shake the memory of 1963 when the final gun found them two yards short of what would have been the season's biggest upset. Navy won 21-15 behind fullback Pat Donnelly's three touchdowns but observers came away singing the praises of Stichweh.

Never in the series dating from 1890 have individuals been more important to their teams than these scrambling field generals who are fast friends off the field.

Each suffered a leg injury at the outset of the campaign and Staubach couldn't even make the trip for one contest while he was severely limited in several others. Both are 100 per cent physically now.

Staubach, from Cincinnati, has completed 107 of 183 passes for 1,021 yards. He also has Houdini-like qualities as a runner when his underpinnings are sound.

Stichweh, from Williston Park, N.Y., is a good passer and great runner who has accounted for 1,354 yards in all offensive departments this fall, a school record.

Army stands 3-6, only the second time in the last 24 years it has faced its arch-rival with less than a winning record.

Two Share Lead In Mexican Open

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Canada's George Knudson and Argentina's Roberto de Vicenzo, playing so well they pleased even themselves, set out today to defend a thin lead against a par-breaking pack in the Mexican National Open Golf Tournament.

With 67s, Knudson and de Vicenzo were only two strokes ahead of three players knotted in second place with 69s — Don January and Gay Brewer, both of Dallas, and Jim Feree of Corona, Calif.

One stroke behind those three came Jackie Cupit of Corona, Calif.; Phil Rodgers of Perdido Bay, Fla.; Al Beselink of Philadelphia, and Don Massengale of Jacksboro, Tex.

Knudson and De Vicenzo led a wholesale assault on par with 18 golfers bettering 72 on the 7,216-yard course at the Mexico Golf Club.

MURFREESBORO, Tenn. (AP)—The opponent for Muskingum College of Ohio in the Dec. 12 Grantland Rice Bowl regional NCAA small college championship football game will be Middle Tennessee State.

The Blue Raiders, whose campus is right here in Murfreesboro, accepted the bid after wrapping up the Ohio Valley Conference crown with a 24-0 Thanksgiving Day triumph over Tennessee Tech. Middle Tennessee has a 7-2-1 record to 8-1 for Muskingum, co-runnerup in the Ohio Conference whose champion Wittenberg declined the opportunity to play in the bowl game.

Sadair Choice In Pimlico's Futurity Run

BALTIMORE (AP) — Sadair will be favored to add the Pimlico Futurity to his juvenile record Saturday and become the top money-winning 2-year-old in racing history.

With only four starters, Sadair will be hard pressed not to advance to the top of the all-time earnings list.

Mrs. Mary B. Hecht's colt needs only $15,666 to surpass the record $402,969, set by Never Bend in 1962. Even with only four entries, the futurity will pay $17,063 to the third-place finisher.

Fourth place will be worth $8,531, or enough to show a profit over the $7,500 supplementary fee Mrs. Hecht deposited Monday to make Sadair eligible. The futurity purse of $177,635 is the largest ever posted in Maryland.

With seven victories in 11 starts this year, Sadair has earned $387,304, or $167 behind Bold Lad, who has been named top 2-year-old of 1964.

Royal Gunner, second in the Garden State, and Hail To All, another half-length back, will challenge Sadair again in the mile and a sixteenth futurity. The other starter will be Umbrella fella.

Tulsa's Rhome Gains All-Valley Honors

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Jerry Rhome, Tulsa's record-smashing quarterback, was the only unanimous choice and his favorite passing target, split end Howard Twilley missed it by only one vote on the 1964 All-Missouri Valley football team named today by The Associated Press.

Coach Chuck Studley of Cincinnati was a solid choice for Valley Coach of the Year over Tulsa's Glenn Dobbs.

Runner-up Tulsa placed eight men on the first team, a 22-man selection of the league's top offensive and defensive players. Cincinnati's Valley champions placed six men on the first team, Wichita five, North Texas two and Louisville one.

Patriots Picked In AFL

Browns, Cards Favored Over Eagles, Steelers

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cleveland can wrap up the Eastern Conference title in the National Football League Sunday but don't count on it. Both the Browns and runnerup St. Louis Cardinals figure to win their games and the race will continue at least until their Dec. 6 meeting at St. Louis.

Buffalo and San Diego, the two division leaders in the American Football League, have Sunday off because they played Thanksgiving Day in San Diego. They appear headed toward a title game Dec. 26 at Buffalo unless the Boston Pats catch the Bills.

When both Detroit and San Diego went down in the holiday games, the record dropped to 72-42-7 for the season (45-28-5 in the NFL, 27-14-2 in the AFL). Only nine games Sunday so let's take another shot:

Cleveland 31, Philadelphia 21-Browns still driving hard toward first conference championship since 1957. Jim Brown always has big day against Eagles but Frank Ryan will find Eagles pass defense tougher than 28-20 Sept. 27 victory.

St. Louis 24, Pittsburgh 21-Cards must win to stay alive, but have been in and outers lately. Steelers broke five-game losing streak last week with emphatic 44-17 win over Giants with help of New York fumbles.

Washington 24, New York 17-Redskins get even for 13-10 defeat in September when Charley Taylor's fumble lost game. Sonny Jurgensen sharp and Giant deep defense hurting.

Green Bay 21, Dallas 17-Packers' running game meets match in Cowboys' rushing defense but Bart Starr's arm should swing the balance. Green Bay beat Dallas in Aug. 25 exhibition 35-3.

Minnesota 24, Los Angeles 21-Vikings and Rams still have a chance at second place and runnerup bowl. Both tough on rushing defense but vulnerable to pass.

Baltimore 28, San Francisco 17-This isn't as easy as it looks. Colts just clinched last week and pressure is off.

AFL

Boston 27, Houston 21-Pats' blitz will bother George Blanda. Oilers' leaky defense too much handicap. Pats must win to stay close to Buffalo. Houston on eight-game losing binge.

Oakland 28, Denver 14-It may not be as easy as the 40-7 game Oct. 25 but Raiders are clicking under Cotton Davidson and Broncs have lost five of six.

Kansas City 24, New York 21-Chiefs still have long shot chance of catching San Diego.

Chester Beats Wellsville In 'Turkey Bowl,' 20-0

Coach Al Clutter's Chester Mice rolled to a 20-0 victory over the host Wellsville Little Tigers in the annual "Turkey Bowl" game of the Tri-State Midget Football League Thursday.

A crowd of 300 at Nicholson Stadium in Wellsville saw the Hancock Countians tally twice in the third quarter on three long runs, and once in the final period on a short plunge.

The defeat was the first of the season for Coach Butch Hancock's Wellsville eleven, who had gone unbeaten in the regular campaign.

Quarterback Vic Reed of Chester staked his team to a 6-0 lead in the third quarter when he scored on a 45 yard run. A short time later, Karl Sayre scooted 60 yards on a punt return for another touchdown.

Late in the final quarter, Pat Clutter, halfback, plunged over from five yards out and fullback Alan Forsythe ran over the conversion to settle the scoring at 20-0.

Lehmans was the big ground gainer for Wellsville. In halftime ceremonies, the winner and runner-up of the league were presented trophies by John Eckstein. At the conclusion, the gold "Turkey Bowl" was presented Coach Clutter by John Andrason, commissioner of the local midget league.

Navy Touchdown Choice To Defeat Army Saturday

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Navy is a one touchdown favorite to defeat an Army team still living a nightmare in the 65th service football game Saturday also billed as the third war of the "S" men — senior quarterbacks Roger Staubach and Rollie Stichweh.

Shorn of bowl possibilities, national ranking or even a club with a winning record, the contest more than ever is the beginning and end of the season for the participants.

Although the President will not be in the crowd of 100,000 at John F. Kennedy Stadium, Luci Baines Johnson will represent the First Family.

A healthy Staubach is the chief reason the momentum-riding Middies are the choice to achieve an unprecedented sixth straight victory and even the colorful series Army currently leads 30-29-5. Two years ago Jolly Roger ran and passed for four touchdowns against the exasperated Soldiers.

The Cadets can't shake the memory of 1963 when the final gun found them two yards short of what would have been the season's biggest upset. Navy won 21-15 behind fullback Pat Donnelly's three touchdowns but observers came away singing the praises of Stichweh.

Never in the series dating from 1890 have individuals been more important to their teams than these scrambling field generals who are fast friends off the field.

Each suffered a leg injury at the outset of the campaign and Staubach couldn't even make the trip for one contest while he was severely limited in several others. Both are 100 per cent physically now.

Staubach, from Cincinnati, has completed 107 of 183 passes for 1,021 yards. He also has Houdini-like qualities as a runner when his underpinnings are sound.

Stichweh, from Williston Park, N.Y., is a good passer and great runner who has accounted for 1,354 yards in all offensive departments this fall, a school record.

Army stands 3-6, only the second time in the last 24 years it has faced its arch-rival with less than a winning record.

Two Share Lead In Mexican Open

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Canada's George Knudson and Argentina's Roberto de Vicenzo, playing so well they pleased even themselves, set out today to defend a thin lead against a par-breaking pack in the Mexican National Open Golf Tournament.

With 67s, Knudson and de Vicenzo were only two strokes ahead of three players knotted in second place with 69s — Don January and Gay Brewer, both of Dallas, and Jim Feree of Corona, Calif.

One stroke behind those three came Jackie Cupit of Corona, Calif.; Phil Rodgers of Perdido Bay, Fla.; Al Beselink of Philadelphia, and Don Massengale of Jacksboro, Tex.

Knudson and De Vicenzo led a wholesale assault on par with 18 golfers bettering 72 on the 7,216-yard course at the Mexico Golf Club.

Ohioan Finishes 4th

CHICAGO (AP) — Bill Moore of Central State of Ohio finished fourth in the big field of cross country runners competing in Thursday's U.S. Track and Field Federation 10,000 - meter championship. Dan Shaughnessy of Southern Illinois won the 6½-mile test in 30:37.8.

Muskingum To Face Tennessee State Team

MURFREESBORO, Tenn. (AP)—The opponent for Muskingum College of Ohio in the Dec. 12 Grantland Rice Bowl regional NCAA small college championship football game will be Middle Tennessee State.

The Blue Raiders, whose campus is right here in Murfreesboro, accepted the bid after wrapping up the Ohio Valley Conference crown with a 24-0 Thanksgiving Day triumph over Tennessee Tech. Middle Tennessee has a 7-2-1 record to 8-1 for Muskingum, co-runnerup in the Ohio Conference whose champion Wittenberg declined the opportunity to play in the bowl game.

Sadair Choice In Pimlico's Futurity Run

BALTIMORE (AP) — Sadair will be favored to add the Pimlico Futurity to his juvenile record Saturday and become the top money-winning 2-year-old in racing history.

With only four starters, Sadair will be hard pressed not to advance to the top of the all-time earnings list.

Mrs. Mary B. Hecht's colt needs only $15,666 to surpass the record $402,969, set by Never Bend in 1962. Even with only four entries, the futurity will pay $17,063 to the third-place finisher.

Fourth place will be worth $8,531, or enough to show a profit over the $7,500 supplementary fee Mrs. Hecht deposited Monday to make Sadair eligible. The futurity purse of $177,635 is the largest ever posted in Maryland.

With seven victories in 11 starts this year, Sadair has earned $387,304, or $167 behind Bold Lad, who has been named top 2-year-old of 1964.

Royal Gunner, second in the Garden State, and Hail To All, another half-length back, will challenge Sadair again in the mile and a sixteenth futurity. The other starter will be Umbrella fella.

Tulsa's Rhome Gains All-Valley Honors

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Jerry Rhome, Tulsa's record-smashing quarterback, was the only unanimous choice and his favorite passing target, split end Howard Twilley missed it by only one vote on the 1964 All-Missouri Valley football team named today by The Associated Press.

Coach Chuck Studley of Cincinnati was a solid choice for Valley Coach of the Year over Tulsa's Glenn Dobbs.

Runner-up Tulsa placed eight men on the first team, a 22-man selection of the league's top offensive and defensive players. Cincinnati's Valley champions placed six men on the first team, Wichita five, North Texas two and Louisville one.

QUESTION: What good are fruit flies?

ANSWER: We think of fruit flies as nasty little pests which buzz around fruit and spoil it for us. It's true fruit flies do a great deal of damage to fruit, laying their eggs in nuts, fruits and berries (1,2). These eggs turn into little white maggots (3) and then into brown pupae (4), from which adult flies emerge. But not all fruit flies damage sound fruit, some preferring rotting or fermenting cherries, apples and so on, which are worthless to us. In one special way, the fruit fly performs a great service to mankind. They multiply with extreme rapidity, so rapidly that a fruit fly is completely grown in about 10 days — this representing about 20 years in a human lifetime. The life cycle of the fruit fly is so short that a scientist can check on a great many generations in a year, making it possible to learn important things about breeding and heredity. In our picture, a scientist is pointing out to two of his young friends a fruit fly strikingly different from the rest—it has short, stubby wings (above). By studying such variations, scientists keep learning things about the mysterious workings of nature.

Crime Shows Cause Delinquency?

Row Nearing Showdown On Charges Against TV

WASHINGTON (AP) — A row sparked by senatorial charges that crime and violence on television help lead to juvenile delinquency apparently is coming to a head.

Senators have started talking of possible new laws to force action if the television industry doesn't "clean its own house," as they put it.

The industry, contending the senatorial accusations are exaggerated and in some cases unwarranted, has served notice it will fight any move toward federal censorship of programs.

The combatants are the Senate subcommittee investigating juvenile delinquency and the National Association of Broadcasters, representing the bulk of the industry.

The subcommittee has cited a number of crimes including killings, extortion, robbery and gang violence by youngsters who allegedly got the idea from television programs.

The subcommittee's chairman, Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., has ordered a massive project to monitor every program aired in the Washington area, to get evidence for subsequent public hearings.

No date has been announced for the hearings, but they are expected to get under way well before spring.

NAB's Code Review Board, an organization of nine broadcasters administering its Code of Fair Practices, has scheduled meetings here Dec. 9-10. The subcommittee's Oct. 27 report to the Senate contended that televised programs excessively featuring crime, violence and brutality are a proved factor in juvenile delinquency although not the only one.

"The patience of Congress, though considerable, is not endless," the report said in warning.

Howard H. Bell, NAB code director, told a reporter by telephone from New York City the subcommittee report made a number of unwarranted allegations, including one that many broadcasters seem to violate the code with impunity.

The subcommittee praised the code's content but said it was poorly enforced and that many violators continued to display the NAB "seal of fair practice" in advertising which supposedly attests compliance with the code.

Bell denied that enforcement of the code is lax. He said many radio and television stations have lost their right to display the seal, and that the industry is taking steps to sharpen the sting.

Bell said the industry does not claim it is perfect, but that it can and does police itself effectively, strives to improve its standards, and will resist any government regulation of the content of its programs.

He said any such legislation would violate constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech and of the press.

Bow Sales Aid Retarded

Mayor Merrill Hall buys the First Retarded Children's Christmas bow from Jerry Steele, president of the East Liverpool - Calcutta Ruritan Club, to officially launch the club's annual bow sale.

John Geren, finance chairman, holds a display showing the different varieties of bows that will be on sale. The bows are made by the Columbiana County Retarded Children's School.

Ruritan members will be in the downtown district each Saturday until Christmas, starting tomorrow. Last year the club sold 1,300 packages to help the retarded youngsters.

U.N. Committee Reveals Facts

Fallout In 1963 Exceeded Other Years, Report Says

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Radioactive fallout in 1963 from nuclear explosions exceeded that of any previous year, the U.N. Scientific Committee on Atomic Radiation said today.

The committee's 1964 report said long-lived fallout in 1962 was three times that of 1960-61. With the ending of atmospheric and underwater testing in December 1963, descending fallout for 1964 was expected to drop to two-thirds of that in 1963, the report said.

Short-lived fission products decayed to negligible levels during 1963 so no further dose will come from the stratosphere after 1964, the report added.

A scientific source close to the committee said the committee had reached no conclusions concerning underground testing.

He said there was no published evidence of water contamination from underground tests. As for venting — the leaking of radiation into the air — gases formed by underground explosions could carry comparatively heavy amounts of contamination, the source said.

The committee said it was not yet possible to assess how nuclear radiation already disseminated by testing, would affect the spread of cancerous malignancies among humans, if at all. It said information so far available on this was unreliable.

The committee source said, however, that the Chinese test was too small to determine now what pattern any future Chinese testing would take in terms of radiation and which world areas would most likely be affected.

Syd Booth of Negley R. D. 1, 103 acres in Middleton Township; T. C. Warrington of Salem R. D. 3, 53 acres in Butler Township; Harry Pease of Rogers R. D. 1, 60 acres in Middleton Township; Dallas Sitler of Leetonia R. D. 2, 31 acres in Fairfield Township, and Robert Boord of East Rochester R. D., 55 acres in West Township.

Patrolman Howard Bosworth, suspended from duty Nov. 1 for 30 days on a charge of "inefficiency and incompetency," will return to his police department post Tuesday, Chief A. J. Radeschi said today.

The officer was given the payless suspension by Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey after a police cruiser he was operating struck a utility pole on St. Clair Ave. Oct. 13.

Was In Prison With No Bed

Rescued Consul Says He Would Return To Congo

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Consul Michael Hoyt, for three months a prisoner of Congolese rebels at Stanleyville, says he "very definitely" would be willing to return to the Congo.

Hoyt and four other members of the U.S. Consulate staff in Stanleyville were rescued earlier this week as part of a U.S.-Belgian paratroop operation that plucked hundreds of whites from the midst of rebels who were preparing to execute them.

The five arrived in Washington Thursday after a flight by military transport. They were greeted by Wayne Fredericks, deputy assistant secretary of state, and a small crowd of well-wishers.

Hoyt said the Congo insurgents first put him under house arrest at the U.S. Consulate but later confined him in a prison with no bed and poor sanitation.

When word came to the rebels that land forces of the central Congolese government were approaching Stanleyville, Hoyt said, they prepared to execute the whites they were holding as hostages.

"Certainly we had many doubts that we would get home alive," he said, adding that the swiftness of the joint rescue operation saved him and most of the other hostages.

Others of the hostages, including at least two Americans, were killed as the rebels herded the hostages into Stanleyville's Lumumba Square and started firing at them.

Hoyt and his four aides — Vice Consul David K. Grinwis of Maplewood, N.J.; communications officer Donald Parkes; and communications clerks Ernest Hule and James E. Stauffer — landed first at New York's Kennedy Airport before proceeding to Washington.

Hoyt was greeted in New York by his wife, Joy, of Tucson, Ariz., who rushed up to him and embraced him.

"I feel fine," he said. "It is wonderful to be back. I'm glad to be reunited with my wife on this Thanksgiving Day."

He said his most anxious moment was "when they started firing at us."

Upon his arrival here, Hoyt was asked if he would accept assignment to the Congo again. "Oh yes — I very definitely would go back," he said.

After reporting to the State Department today, Hoyt plans several weeks of rest with his family.

Bullet Wound Fatal To Youth

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Seventeen-year-old John Earl Wilson died in a Hamilton Hospital today of a bullet wound in the head that, according to the Butler County sheriff's office, he received while playing a backward version of "Russian Roulette."

Deputies said the youth, his brother Stephen, 16, and two girl friends were in the Wilson home Thursday night when John entered the room with his father's nine-shot .22 caliber pistol.

Deputies reported the other youths as saying John removed one bullet from the revolver—instead of all but one bullet as in the better known version of the game. He then spun the chamber, put the pistol to his right temple, according to the youths, and announced, "look, Russian Roulette."

Rescued Consul Says He Would Return To Congo

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Consul Michael Hoyt, for three months a prisoner of Congolese rebels at Stanleyville, says he "very definitely" would be willing to return to the Congo.

Hoyt and four other members of the U.S. Consulate staff in Stanleyville were rescued earlier this week as part of a U.S.-Belgian paratroop operation that plucked hundreds of whites from the midst of rebels who were preparing to execute them.

The five arrived in Washington Thursday after a flight by military transport. They were greeted by Wayne Fredericks, deputy assistant secretary of state, and a small crowd of well-wishers.

Hoyt said the Congo insurgents first put him under house arrest at the U.S. Consulate but later confined him in a prison with no bed and poor sanitation.

When word came to the rebels that land forces of the central Congolese government were approaching Stanleyville, Hoyt said, they prepared to execute the whites they were holding as hostages.

"Certainly we had many doubts that we would get home alive," he said, adding that the swiftness of the joint rescue operation saved him and most of the other hostages.

Others of the hostages, including at least two Americans, were killed as the rebels herded the hostages into Stanleyville's Lumumba Square and started firing at them.

Hoyt and his four aides — Vice Consul David K. Grinwis of Maplewood, N.J.; communications officer Donald Parkes; and communications clerks Ernest Hule and James E. Stauffer — landed first at New York's Kennedy Airport before proceeding to Washington.

Hoyt was greeted in New York by his wife, Joy, of Tucson, Ariz., who rushed up to him and embraced him.

"I feel fine," he said. "It is wonderful to be back. I'm glad to be reunited with my wife on this Thanksgiving Day."

He said his most anxious moment was "when they started firing at us."

Upon his arrival here, Hoyt was asked if he would accept assignment to the Congo again. "Oh yes — I very definitely would go back," he said.

After reporting to the State Department today, Hoyt plans several weeks of rest with his family.

Bullet Wound Fatal To Youth

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Seventeen-year-old John Earl Wilson died in a Hamilton Hospital today of a bullet wound in the head that, according to the Butler County sheriff's office, he received while playing a backward version of "Russian Roulette."

Deputies said the youth, his brother Stephen, 16, and two girl friends were in the Wilson home Thursday night when John entered the room with his father's nine-shot .22 caliber pistol.

Deputies reported the other youths as saying John removed one bullet from the revolver—instead of all but one bullet as in the better known version of the game. He then spun the chamber, put the pistol to his right temple, according to the youths, and announced, "look, Russian Roulette."
